Campus Ravaged By Program Foundations Near Completion

—from The Phillipian

The statements Mr. Frazier makes are hardly worthy of serious, elaborate refutation. The charge that Andover graduates are bourgeois gentlemen is completely meaningless.

While there were few who attacked his (Bakst's) statements, many asked the question: "What right has he to say so?" Our answer is that anyone who perceives a fault which he thinks can be eliminated, or a situation which he believes can be improved, has the right to say so.

For his magnanimity and kindness,
And for a task with vigor and humanity
accomplished,
We, his pupils and friends,
salute

John Kingsbury Colby
our master and friend.

A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance

Since he came to Andover in 1937, Dr. Malone has worked hard as an instructor in American History and as Chairman of Lectures and Entertainments. For his gentle kindness, diplomacy, and jovial humor, we dedicate this Pot Pourri to a true gentleman.

... DEDICATION

IN MEMORIAM

Sylvia Pratt Kemper's association with Andover began when she visited friends here as a child. Ever since her husband came here twelve years ago, she has made sacrifices to be close to the students. In order that seniors could eat with her on Sunday nights, she had her kitchen remodeled. She stood for hours in the hockey rink watching the games on winter afternoons. It was at her request that three uppers each year lived in the Kempers' Phelps House. Mrs. Kemper was always trying to meet students, trying to know them better.

Not long ago, doctors discovered that she had a fatal illness and told her that she could not expect to live much longer. Shaken as she was by the news, she took heart: "I want to make every day count."

She fought hard. Sickness could not keep her from attending baseball and lacrosse games to watch her friends. Nor could her own sickness prevent her from comforting other people stricken by disease or grief.

Last summer she went to Europe with her husband and daughters. Her courageous effort, in the face of death, to make each day count prompted many friends to call her death not a defeat, but a victory. She died on the second day of September.

One day in assembly, Mr. Benedict said that the basic problem of our class was our anxiety. We were the class that "bit our fingernails." Our immediate trouble was not the strife which pervades the world, but rather the harsh task of getting into college. Because of our attitude, we could not really be indicted for laziness or complacency, plagues which I had accused our class of harboring when I wrote my Open Letter in the Phillipian. I had charged vehemently that we had forsaken our basic responsibilities, that we had let important extracurricular activities fall by the wayside, and that we were not, as it were, in the best traditions of Phillips Academy — "America's oldest, largest, and finest prep school."

In retrospect, I would be the first to admit that the Open Letter was perhaps too much one sided, though I still maintain that two or three of the unsavory items which I pointed out continued to burden us throughout the year, and unless they are straightened out by future students, I suggest that they might seriously jeopardize Andover's stature for many years to come.

As we look back at commencement and face the "world beyond Howard Johnson's," we will be most eager to have our achievements foremost in our minds. We will take pride in the fact that after being severely hampered by a shortage of manpower, the Phillipian was able to redeem itself in fine fashion by publishing several full-bodied, mature issues in the latter part of Ben White's regime. We attained near professional dramatic success by our performances in Twelfth Night, Oklahoma!, and Mr. Roberts. Some of the clubs began concentrating on quality instead of quantity and sponsored some top-notch meetings. Notable among these were the French Club's showing of "Breathless", Forum's talk by the Republican state chairman, and the Russian Club's showing of "The Cranes Are Flying" and the visit of George Cabot Lodge. We will want to remember too, the sentiments expressed angrily, but thoughtfully, by Chris Geissmann and Rick Barry at the Senior Assembly. In such endeavors, we showed that on many occasions we were capable of fulfilling the tremendous promise and potential that had been with us since our Junior days and which had just been waiting for some opportunities to come out.

One morning in chapel, Mr. Mikula said that because P.A. was already so successful, it would be extremely hard for anyone to improve it. While it would be easy for us to condone this narcissism by pointing to our editorial, club, dramatic, and athletic achievements, let us also remember two areas in which we failed, and as a result of our failing, two areas in which Andover is also failing: the Copley Wing and the Student Congress. Immaturity in the library has been discussed so much that now even a mere mention of it cannot help but sound trite. Ridicule of the student government is also so rampant that further criticism of the Congress sounds worn too. But chances are that we helped set an example for the underclassmen, and if the Copley Wing was to us a playpen and if the Student Congress was a circus, then it is all too likely that our successors will also consider them as such. If this is the case, then somewhere along the line, Phillips Academy is deficient. It would seem that the school succeeds in surrounding its students with an unsurpassed intellectual and educational environment, but fails to instill in them maturity and responsibility.

To end this essay on a personal note, I would like to say that I have been asked several times in the past few years whether I am glad I went to prep school — more specifically, P.A. My answer to these queries has been twofold. First of all, I have said that if it is a Good Thing to attend prep school, then Andover is definitely the place to go. But second, I have added that it will take many years to put everything into perspective, many years before I can give an objective answer. Yet even now the pleasant memories have begun to obscure the bitter ones, and I am inclined to say, with no little enthusiasm, "I am glad of the experience."

Liles (Vice President), Hall (President).

Every year the Upper Middle Class is made increasingly aware of the great fight for college admissions. We were told that colleges are tougher now than they have ever been before, and that one's record in the Upper year is becoming a decisive factor in the outcome of their decisions. With a foggy image in the back of our minds of Uncle Sam beckoning us to Paris Island, we all made stern resolutions at the beginning of the Fall Term to grind away even harder this year. Some of us even kept these resolutions, as indicated by the large increase over last year in the number of students on the First and Second Honor Rolls. On the morning of March 3, we had our first encounter with the formidable "CEEBS" — a three-hour ordeal called the SAT. The Day the Scores Came was a day of deepest gloom for some, mild satisfaction for most, and wild joy for a few. The latter group included two Uppers who received 800's. In May came the Achievements, and for many, the AP's.

Along with these agonies came a slight compensation in the form of some new privileges. Radios were pulled out from hiding, smoking became legal, we could stay up all night, and we could starve ourselves every day without getting a cut.

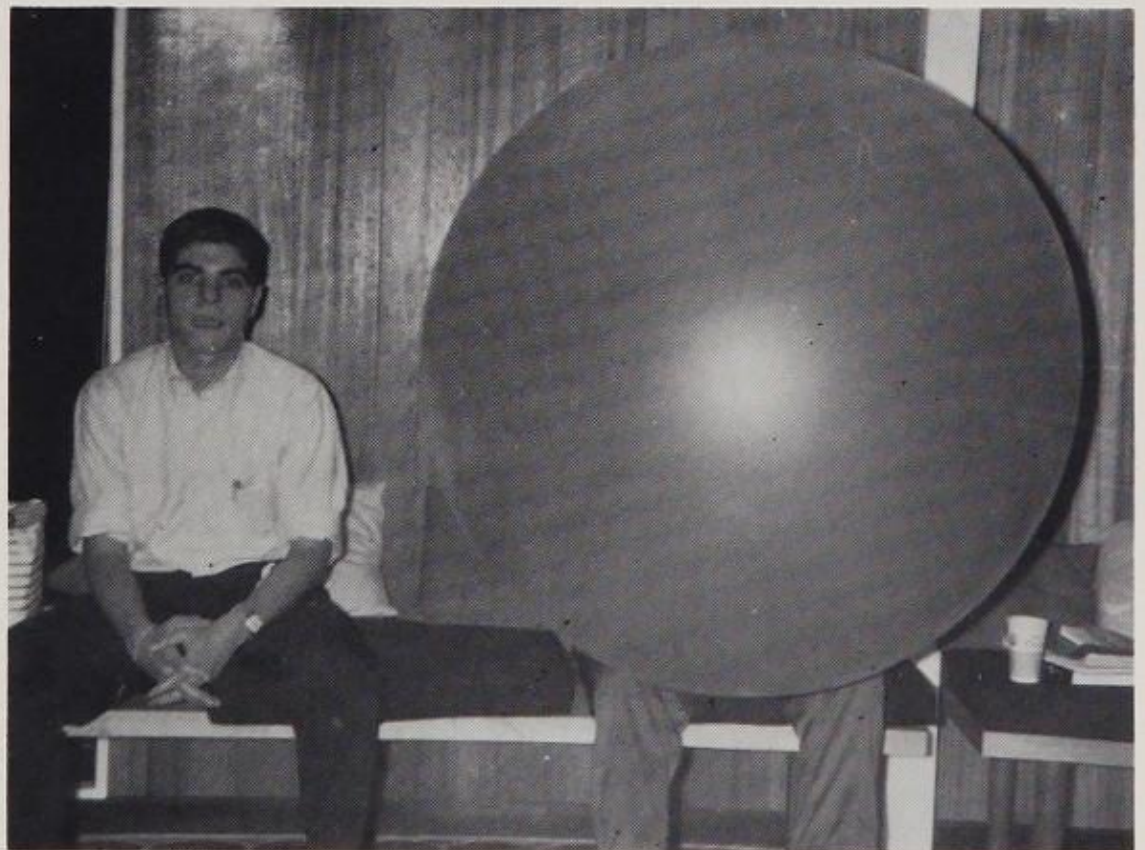

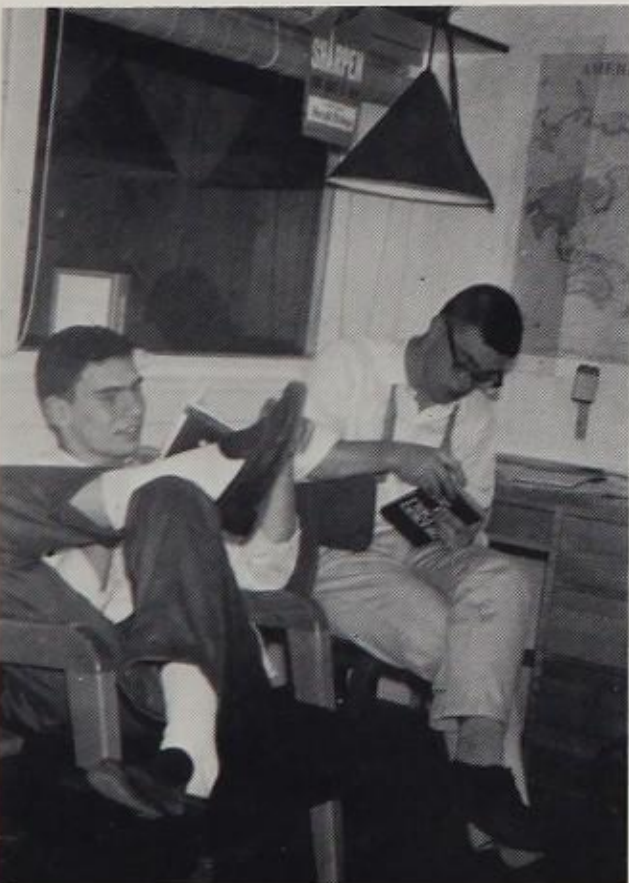

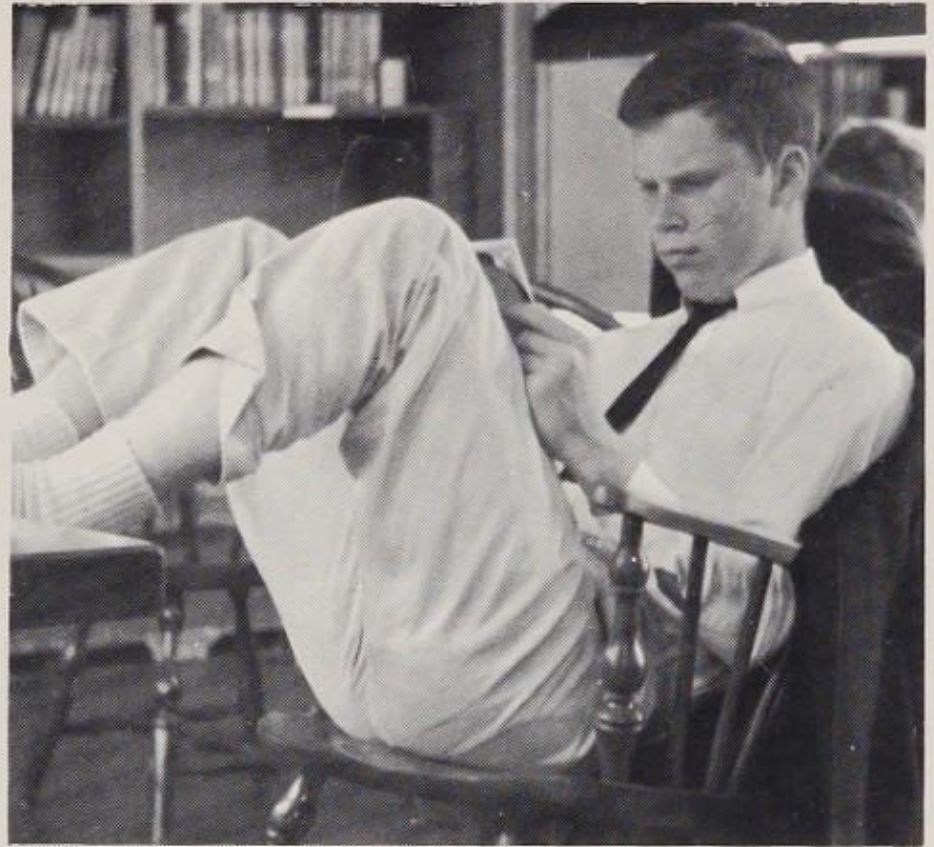

Even with these added pressures and privileges, many Uppers found time to distinguish themselves in athletics and extra-curricular activities. In the Fall Term we boosted the football team to help it achieve a creditable record for the season. The hockey team this winter found three of us on the ice when the first string was playing; several others were also top scorers. The story was much the same in most other winter sports. Dramatics, however, was one field in which we Uppers were not as strong as Uppers have been in the past. None of us held important leads in Twelfth Night or Oklahoma! Those few who did act, however, did a fine job, partially making up for our deficiency.

The Spring Term was the best term of all for us, not only because it was the shortest, but also because at this time we took over from the Seniors the control of many important activities. The most notable of these was the management of the Spring Prom. Our committee was well organized and well chosen, having two artists in its midst. They planned the Prom carefully, decorating the gym so well that it vividly conveyed the gay theme, Carnival! Another important job that we acquired in the spring was control of the Phillipian. The new board has shown great ability and interest and has not put out an issue under eight pages yet.

The 1962 Upper Class is a highly varied group. We have shown many interests and many dislikes; we have had many successes and many failures. All of this has created in our class the stimulating atmosphere typical of P.A., and for this reason we would like to predict that we will be one of the finest classes in P.A.'s history.

—A. Trevor

Vermeil (Vice President), Cooper (President).

LOWERS

Scattered over the campus in picturesque, if shaky, wooden cottages and worn brick dormitories, the Lower Class began the Fall Term ready to tackle whatever challenges faced it. Before long we faced the first of these, the Abbot Mixer, where we mixed with Abbot. Then five of our hardier classmates tackled their way to athletic fame on the football varsity, while our three "big toes" reached the glittering heights of the almost undefeated soccer team. Dick Howe, the 7:45-bell-ringer, ran so fast that he was elected next year's cross-country captain. Meanwhile, a number of our more studious brothers worked towards the honor roll, but even most of them turned out when we assaulted the Juniors with snowballs. We were a mite disappointed when our young friends failed to meet us in a major clash, but we managed nonetheless to shatter some of Will Hall's glass. We stayed long enough to take our final exams, and departed hastily from the Madding Crowd for a Joyeux Noel.

Soon we returned for more in the Winter Term. Quite a few lowers survived the flu and the list of postings (a new high) to show their mettle in assorted areas. John Morgan displayed his by winning the Carr Prize; a number of sprouting journalists made the boards of the Phillipian and Mirror; the "school spirit" among us, ignoring the cold, we cheered Brown, Bryant, and Baston on the hockey team, and visited a lower-infested track team between periods. Varsity swimming seemed to be all Lower preps; the 110-pound wrestling class seemed to be all Drew Swartz. One Saturday night we stopped studying our theorems and went to the Lower Class Dance, courtesy of Dan Cooper. Then the school arose in furious and righteous rebellion against Saturday night movies. To our delight, the movies improved, and with a calmed spirit, we took our final exams and left for home, muttering bits of Henry IV, Part I.

When we came back, it was spring and we all put on our madrases and fruit-boots. Lowers really bloomed then: old enough to go to the Prom, some even did. We took positions of responsibility as officers of both debating societies and of numerous other clubs; we boasted two members of the new 8'n'l; we formed our own "twang group", Toby Spurge's Torquès; and we had our top athletes: Hay, Weiss, Huvelle, Gonzalez, Weinberger (again!), and various other unnamed heroes. Two literary giants, Rounds and Lee, published opuses in the Mirror; various dramatists participated in Okla-homa; and two of our more eloquent classmates disputed the propriety of pitying one's grandchildren in the Robinson Prize Debate.

Scattered as we were over the campus, the Lowers had established an identity as a class. When the Straps lost to the Bombers, when Booth wore his madras pants, or when the world learned that PA had gone "nego", everybody realized that the Lowers would leave their mark on Andover.

by Seith Mydans

Our first few months in Andover were spent in submissive silence while we built character, never flinching when they brought out the prep-whips, and doing very well on the fall athletic fields.

With the winter term came a certain sense of confidence. Our innate hatred of anything fatuous and phony made us itch to smash the Lovers in a snowball fight to prove ourselves in one burst of righteous violence. When the snows came, however, we were cremated — learning the hard way that “snowball fight” was a euphemism.

Meanwhile our scholars, athletes and politician were making their mark — we had five members of our class on varsity teams, and a few of us were contributing regularly to the Phillipian.

We also developed emotionally, maturing incredibly in four months. By the end of the Winter Term we could hate and cuss as well as any of those guys in the dark corner of Riley Room.

And by Spring we were cocky again — only this time, not content to bother ourselves with base Lovers, we took on various creatures of the Senior class, winning by sheer wait of numbers and by ear-piercing shrieks that paralyzed our opponents.

We learned about Dana Hall girls in the spring. This was fun.

And we indulged in that vernal privilege of all Andover students — the Springtime Slump — imitating the fleshpots of Foxcroft Hall by setting up camp out of doors. Though a little less beefy, a little less beer-bellied than our Senior counterparts, we succeeded just as well as they in giving the impression of accomplished worthlessness.

Thus we passed through our first year.

PHILLIPS SOCIETY

Coordinated by President Bruce Pruitt, the Phillips Society well met its aims to share the work and responsibility of the school and its community throughout the year.

From the annual prep picnic and the introductory meeting to the Old Clothes Drive and the elections, the Society was one of the most active organizations in the school. The Charities Drive held the night before the Exeter game complemented the success of the Society's year. The goal for the student body was $5,500; the donations totaled over $6,000. The average donation in Rockwell House was an astonishing $9. For the first time, each student was able to choose the various organizations to receive his donation. With an anticipated chapel-offering intake of $3,500, the school hopes to be able to donate $9,500 to charity for 1961-1962. Mr. Baldwin's comment: "Impressive, but then the school has always been generous in giving."

Bringing mail and assignments to boys in the Infirmary, serving coffee after Church at Graham House, helping to show P.A. to prospective students, directing visiting teams and serving them refreshments, selling Christmas cards for charity, teaching Sunday School in town, collecting old clothing from the student body, all helped the Phillips Society make its 1961-1962 year as smooth and successful as ever.

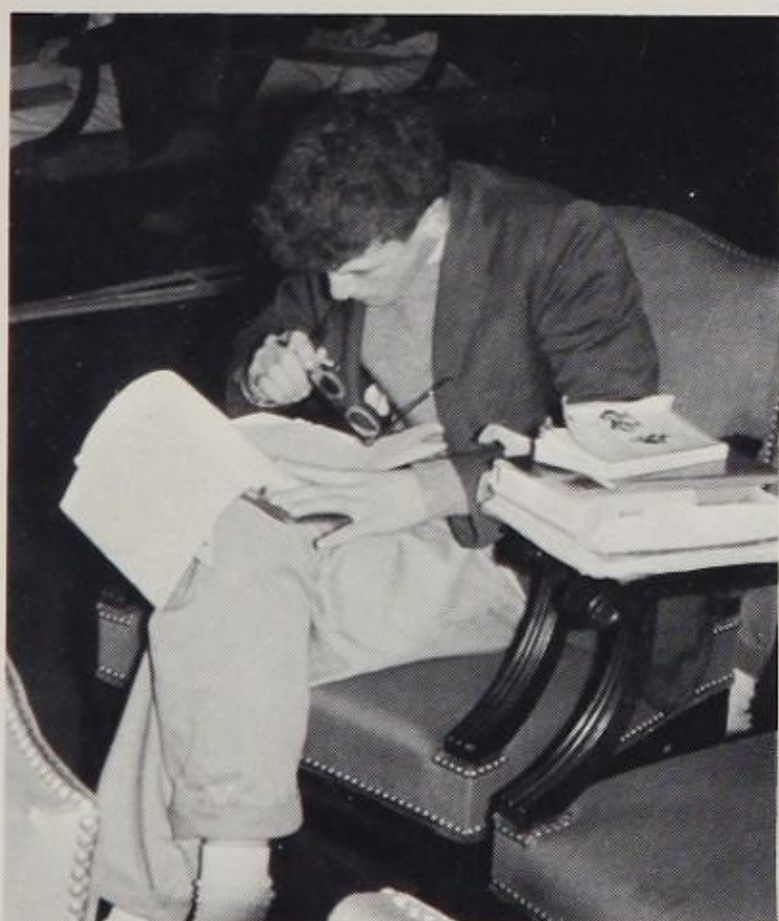

Nelson, Upton, Barry, Clapp.

"Under the Constitution as revised in May, 1961, Student Government comprises the Student Congress, the Advisory Committee, and the class officers. The preamble to the Constitution states that: 'It shall be the duty of the Student Government of Phillips Academy to set a high example to the student body, to be vitally interested in and to work for the welfare of the school, to act on behalf of the students in school affairs, and to promote a cordial relationship between the Faculty and the students.'

STUDENT CONGRESS

Sitting: Newton, Upton. Standing: Barry, Hall.

"The Student Congress is a body of about forty-five members, each representing a . . . living-group in the school. These delegates are elected by the groups they represent twice during the year. It is the duty of the Student Congress to take action to further the purposes set forth in the preamble to the Constitution, to conduct elections of class officers and prom committees, to promote extra-curricular organizations and activities, and to be responsible for the conduct of the students in such places and at such times as shall be agreed upon by the Congress and the Faculty . . ."

P O T P O U R R I

Sitting: Donahoe, Bakst, Budd, Abbot, Leichliter. Standing: Kresch, Raben, Ritvo, Pearsall, Knight, Nichols, Mandel, Mahaffy.

Editor-in-Chief George Budd would have you believe that the 1962 Pot Pourri was a democracy. In fact, as he expounded his famous "in a democracy there are duties as well as privileges" doctrine throughout the year, shadows of a free, liberal society occasionally appeared. The main trouble, though, was that Budd's subordinates had to spend much of their time trying to figure out just what the privileges were that supposedly came with the obligations.

Senior Editor Chuck Bakst was really in a dilemma. His title ignored, he turned out to be Literary Editor and took care of assigning and proofreading articles. ("Writahs, please read yoah ahticles befoah you hand them in."). Budd shrewdly theorized that Bakst was responsible for any writing dealing even remotely with the book; Bakst therefore had to waste an incredible amount of time composing letters and printing up forms.

Another bewildered fellow was Associate Editor Bill Chickering. Chickering's athletic duties caused him to take a leave of absence from the book during the fall. Once he began work in earnest, however, he and Budd laid out nearly every page, even though it entailed much effort and prodding during vacations. They rarely collaborated, however, and this perhaps was the reason Chickering never realized the privileges of Pot Pourri labor; instinct usually enabled him to escape whenever Editor Budd tried to corner him.

Business Manager Steve Abbot was as lost as everyone else in September, and though he never discovered the advantages or privileges of Pot Pourri work, he certainly met his obligations. Spurred on by a bet with the Editor-in-Chief, and aided immensely by Managing Editor Eli Atri, Abbot easily topped the $1,000 advertising mark in March.

Behind this motly crew was Budd himself. The Omnipotent One seized every opportunity he could to get some work done on the book ("What this organization needs is some organization."), frequently holding impromptu conferences in the Wing. Budd's alarming determination to make this Pot Pourri even better than the trite "best ever" caused him to have the book foremost on his mind night and day for over a year.

Confusion was not just something that crept into this year's Phillipian, but rather was a policy strenuously and conscientiously pursued. Yet, it is the Board's proud boast that in spite of all obstacles, some sort of a paper managed to find its way into the mailboxes of its subscribers nearly every week.

In charge of the unruly mob that constituted the staff was Ben White, whose administrative ability caused one admirer to brand him "Instant Chaos." Ben was always very patient and full of suggestions. ("Why don't we just put out two pages this week?", "Why don't we wait until Friday to put the paper out?", or "Why don't we just run ads on the editorial page?")

Benner House notwithstanding, the official headquarters of the Phillipian was a dismal portion of the catacombs of Graves Hall. Needless to say, members of the staff avoided the place like the plague, partly because of its distant location, and partly because of its uninviting appearance. (An unconfirmed rumor has it that the federal government once offered the Phillipian aid under some slum-clearance program.) Bowing to tradition (as well as to necessity), those entering the dungeon did so through the windows. The room has a door, and somewhere in Phillipian mythology there is some tale of an age when men had a key to the door and could pass through it. The fables of the Golden Age, however, are not always reliable. One of the ancient bards even claims that there was a time when the paper had a business board.

Sometimes seen with Ben on his occasional visits to Graves Hall was redheaded, rotund Harold Stults. As the original disorganization man, Stults surprised no one when he trundled over to Peabody House five minutes too late to have his picture taken for the Pot Pourri.

Among the most familiar of the sights that loomed up in the haze of Graves Hall was that of Jerry Bramwell brandishing his flexible metal ruler at a swarm of heeler, underclass Board members. Managing Editor Bramwell's dire predictions about the fate of the paper, along with the perpetual feuds of Sports Editors Armstrong and Gilmore were usually a source of much amusement to the staff. Perhaps they did more than anything else to encourage attendance at those nebulous gatherings which one well-intentioned, if uninitiated, heeler once referred to as "meetings."

Under the ostensible leadership of Editor-in-Chief Dave Quattrone, and under the practical guidance of Literary Editor Bob Levin, the Mirror experienced a somewhat erratic year. Though the journal was plagued by missed deadlines and at times lacked contributions, most of the issues nevertheless showed a general level of excellence.

Significant stories included Pete Johnson's Ryley Room study, "October 28"; Associate Editor Mike Beard's humorous contribution, "Yes, Virginia, There Is a Homer"; and Chuck Bakst's highly ambitious effort, "The Great Snowball Controversy: When Andover and Exeter Failed." The magazine also published several memorable poems, foremost of which were "On Julian Entering Antioch" by Mike Beard, and "Small Clay Statue" by Steve Mathes.

Eric Heyworth and Bill Donell ably handled the art department, which in several issues created as much interest as the stories themselves. Donell's ship cover on the February issue received more favorable comment than any other cover since Larry Butler (P.A. '60) graduated to the Harvard Lampoon.

Though still not universally popular with the student body, the Mirror has shown great potential since 1958-59, the first time six issues per year were published, yet one is tempted to think the magazine's future is far brighter than its sometimes admirable past — a past that unfortunately failed to maintain consistent standards.

Despite troubles unknown to P.A.'s more provincial publications, the New England Literary Magazine managed to put out one issue at the end of the year, containing the best of prep school literature from the entire New England area. This was NELM's second year. Due to a lack of communications with last year's staff, Editors Henry Binford and Michael Beard were forced to start from scratch, making new contacts with representatives throughout the six states. Aiding the Editors-in-Chief were Literary Editor Harold Stults and Associate Editors Bob Chapman and Bill Damon.

The original plan of publishing two issues had to be discarded late in the Winter Term because of a number of catastrophes. As a result, the editors concentrated on quality rather than quantity and compiled a shorter magazine than the preceding year's staff.

Next year's Board, under the leadership of Bill Damon in the literary department and Dick Pech-ter in the business field, has plans to widen the scope and organization of the journal, expanding the NELM network more completely into the New England literary world.

Looking back on the work of the past few months, Editor Binford says, "We regard this as a terminal year, the root of a growing tree. No one before has ever set up a system like NELM's. A magazine with no alma mater support has a task before it. But the interschool ties of NELM will be healthy for Andover and for all of New England."

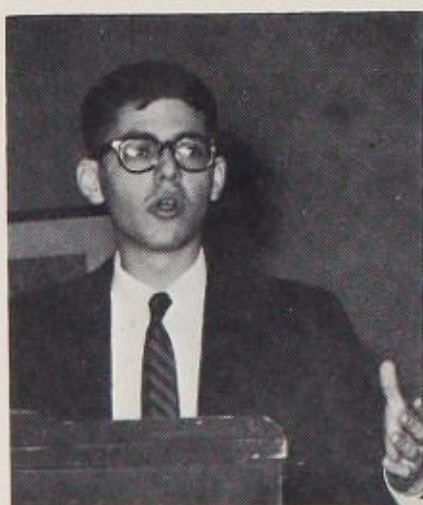

PHILO

Under the leadership of Louis Wiley, Colin Campbell, Harold Stults, and Seth Mydans, Philo enjoyed a year of growth and increasing popularity. The Fall Term was marked by five well-attended debates on such varied topics as fallout shelters and HUAC and was highlighted by Philo's debate with Abbot, Andover taking the affirmative of the resolution: A woman should be President of the U.S.

An active Winter Term saw Robert Burton, Steve Mathes, and Dick Fielding win the finals of the Fall Debating Tournament. The Society held a total of eight major debates plus a religious forum on the topic: Pacificism — Is it the Christian Answer? In addition, Philo began a new publication, The Philo Review, which greatly increased interest in the Society by its sometimes witty, sometimes scathing debate writeups. The Term ended with a victory over Roxbury Latin.

The Spring Term began with a hard-fought double debate against our traditional rival Exeter and ended with the traditionally well-attended steak picnic. In between there was a forum, several debates, and the annual Robinson Prize Debate.

In retrospect, Philo's growth and record is impressive. More than fifteen major debates and several forums were held. Philo started its own publication and had outside debates with Abbot, Roxbury Latin, and Exeter. In addition, the Philo Training Group, designed to give practice and instruction in debating technique, met regularly all year. With many of its members returning next year, Philo should continue its increasing popularity and maintain its traditional position of leadership in school life.

PNYX's second full year of operation was indeed a successful one. The officers, President Charles Beard, '62, Vice-President Charles Kaufmann, '62, Secretary Babcock MacLean, '63, and Treasurer John Allison, '62, organized a program of interest and variety. The membership with good solid debating and participation did the rest.

The Fall Term's activities included a well attended training group and debates on such topics as Red China's admission to the U.N. and Juniors and Lowers having radios. Abbot Academy successfully proved that P.A. and Abbot should adopt a limited co-ed classroom system, but in the Spring term three PNYX teams debating at Abbot defeated each of three Abbot teams on the topic, "Resolved: Liberal prep schools provide a better education than conservative ones."

The Winter term's work was characterized by debates on school topics. PNYX debated the merits of the new honor roll system and the new cut system and questioned Andover's teaching of the "great end and real business of living." Kaufmann, MacLean, Allison and Chris Burns, '62, formed a panel which explored unilateral disarmament for Forum. In addition, a parliamentary debate was held on the resolution, "Resolved: the process of integration should be accelerated." Finally, PNYX explored such humorous resolutions as "Resolved: Women athletes detract from the desirable feminine image."

The Spring term was highlighted by an all PNYX final in the annual Robinson Prize Debate. Allison, Burns, and Neal Tonken, '64, debating the negative of the resolution, "Resolved: That we should pity our grandchildren," squeaked by a strong affirmative team of Beard, MacLean, and Laurent Alpert, '64.

ORCHESTRA

The Phillips Academy orchestra had one of its most successful and productive years in recent memory. Much of its success was directly attributable to Mr. F. DeWitt Thornton, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, who assumed the leadership of the group. In order to bring out the best of the musicians' ability, Mr. Thornton adopted a grueling rehearsal schedule. The string players rehearsed three or four times a week, while the brass section practiced two or three times. Combined, the orchestra was one of Andover's most enjoyable organizations.

The orchestra made its annual tour of Dana Hall, Walnut Hill, and other schools, performing masterpieces of Haydn, Bach, Vivaldi, and Boccherini. Stacy Langton, the Academy's most proficient oboist, was once again one of the foremost performers of the year. His renditions of Brandenburg Concerto #3 and Barlow's The Winter Past were the finale of the Addison Art Gallery's show at the end of the Spring Term.

Oklahoma! was the last event in which the orchestra participated. Accompanying Dave Quatrone, Mr. Schneider, another member of the Music Department, did a superb job of leading the members through the extremely difficult sections of this Rodgers and Hammerstein musical.

The 1961-62 season, while not spectacularly eventful, was filled with numerous performances by many of the orchestra's individual greats, showing in part why the orchestra is one of P.A.'s most successful groups.

This year's band had one of its most successful seasons in the seven years that Mr. William Clift has been the conductor of the organization. Under the guidance of President William Vincent, Vice President Marty Wishnatsky, and Jeffrey Stopford, Mr. Clift was easily able to put the band through many new steps. Prominent among these was the concert formation. This step had been attempted unsuccessfully a few years before. The formation gave the fans here at Andover, and also at Mt. Hermon and Exeter, powerful and well-balanced performances.

After the conclusion of the football season, the band marched off the field and onto the stage. Mr. Clift proved adept in his superb handling of concerts with Beaver

Country Day and Walnut Hill. In these two concerts the band played along while the girls' school chorus accompanied. During the winter term, the band had its annual combined concert with Deerfield Academy. On hand was Mitch Miller, whose son attends Deerfield. Terming the concert a great one, he extended his personal congratulations to both bands.

As the year ended, Mr. Clift planned a trip to a Red Sox baseball game, and also a Saturday afternoon at Revere Beach as rewards for a successful season.

CHORUS

Lacking the super stars of last year, the Choir was molded into a tightly-knit and smooth functioning organization. Under the forceful leadership of co-presidents, Dave Quatrone and Jeff Hill, and Secretary, Dick Crawford, the Phillips Academy singing group experienced a successful season. Led by William Schneider, in his thirteenth year as chorus director, the Choir fulfilled his greatest expectations.

Joint concerts and dances were held with Abbot, Dana Hall, House in the Pines, and Walnut Hill. The religious music ranged from Russian folk songs and lyrical psalms to Negro spirituals. The Vesper services afforded Mr.

Schneider an opportunity to find new choral introits which helped to relieve some of the boredom usually experienced during Sunday Church in the winter term.

The spring term laid new responsibilities on the already veteran Chorus — the musical. This year's choice was Oklahoma! Through diligent and devoted effort, the show went off very well. A steak picnic at Mr. Schneider's country house helped top off a very vocal year.

"With a backbone of four hard-losers from last year's group (Quattrone, Riley, Hill, and Hile), this year's otherwise spineless 8 'n' 1 grovelled its way into the public eye by breaking all bonds of tradition — it was the first 8 'n' 1 to have nine members. Encouraged by no signs of reprisal for such a shockingly radical move, leader Quattrone decided to step further out on the limb by junking nauseous Bandoleros and adopting Standing on the Corner as a new theme song. With still no signs of reprisal, the group then voted unanimously to go all the way with a Christmas-vacation trip to Bermuda — they got as far as New York City when Liles got homesick for Death Valley (of all places) and went home. Undaunted (as a matter of fact, unimpaired), the group then met several engagements there, the highlight being a Junior League Tea."

ACES

Dixon, Smith, Shubs, Phillips, Meng, Siegchrist, Stephens, Klahn, Jacobs, Wishnatsky.

This year's Aces, according to popular opinion, were the best Aces ever. The mellow blend of four saxophones, Martin Wishnatsky (leader), Dwight Stephens, Peter Shubs, and John Dixon often captured the elusive sound of the Ornette Coleman Orchestra, while Bob Klahn, Paul Meng, and Scott Smith on trumpet contrasted beautifully with skillfully articulated accents and offbeats. Mark Siegchrist, "a good little pianist," sparkled as his magic fingers roamed over the keyboard, instinctively weaving his melody in with that of the rest of the group. Webb Phillips, drums, and Tim Carter, bass, (occasionally Carl Jacobs) skillfully laid down a compelling beat. The perfect balance between rhythm and melody led many to say, "This is our music."

SATANS

The Satans first swung out with two big performances in the spring of '61. Their fresh, original sound quickly vaulted them to popularity with students at prep schools all over the area. Opening this year at The Mixer, they continued their vibrant sound and soon established themselves as the school's only rock 'n' roll group. Led by lead-guitarist Al Gordon, saxiphonist Marty Wishnatsky, and vocalist Carl

("The Woonsocket Rocket") Corey, the Satans "raised hell" at numerous dances and parties both on and off campus. Their big numbers — "Church-key", "Honky-tonk", "The Twist", "Summertime", and "Alabama Jubilee" — were incorporated with others into a highly successful album, "The Satans Raisin' Hell," before the group bowed out at the Senior Class Party, June 9, 1962.

The 8 'n' 1 never really knew fear until the debut of the Carpetbaggers at Dana Hall in the Winter Term. At ensuing dances at P.A. and Abbot, the Carpetbaggers continued to sing their repertoire of songs stolen from the Kingston Trio, the 8 'n' 1, the Orchestra, the Astronomy Club, Norman Vincent Peale, the Koran, and the Kentucky Resolutions. This fearless ensemble consisted of Chas Chapman, playing the guitar and singing first bass; Jim Rabb, playing the guitar and singing far out; and Mike Beard, playing the five-string banjo and trying not to let anyone know his voice was changing.

Despite their copious shortcomings, the three Seniors somehow succeeded in convincing the faculty that they could sing well enough to merit becoming the first folk song group ever to be accorded official recognition by this august body. It is reliably reported by several high-placed informants that they will also be the last group to win such official approval.

JAZZ CLUB

Sitting: Bourne, Bass (President). Standing: Kambhu.

Started only last year, the Jazz Club has already acquired a membership of twenty students. The group, composed mostly of underclassmen, is headed by President Edward Bass, Vice-President James Bourne, and Secretary-Treasurer Chai Kambhu.

The club was established so that students could have a center for listening to all types of jazz, discuss the music, and pool their knowledge of the subject. In the fall, Kambhu talked to the club on "The Development of the Blues." In the winter, the President gave a series of talks on "The History of Jazz." A movie, "What Is Jazz?" by Leonard Bernstein, was the central attraction at one of the regular Saturday evening meetings.

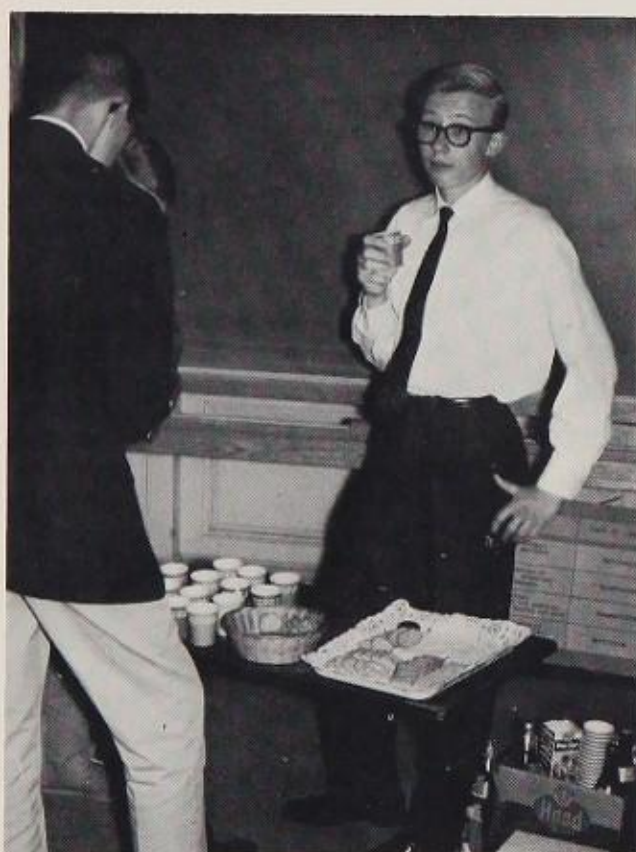

The club has many tentative plans for the future, among which are trips to Boston next year to attend some of the jazz concerts. During the year the group maintained a room containing over one hundred-fifty records which was open to the entire student body. If the interest in jazz increases at PA as it has in the last year, the club will soon be a prominent organization.

PRESS CLUB

Still in the process of trying to recover from last year's gala election banquet, the Press Club began its work in September under the capable leadership of Dick Moore, President; Brent Mohr, Vice-President; Shaun Donahoe, Secretary; and Chris Armstrong, Treasurer. During the fall, President Moore teamed with Program Editor Chuck Bakst to turn out an unprecedented number of two issues for the Lawrenceville and Deerfield football games.

In general, the year saw the organization function smoothly, fulfilling its duties of giving adequate coverage of P.A. sports, even if it was frequently handicapped by a violently pro-Exeter Boston Herald sports section. When Moore takes over the rival Globe next year, Hub athletic reporting will undoubtedly assume a radically Andoverian slant in retaliation.

ASIA SOCIETY

Hobart Birmingham and his fellow governors set out to run the Asia Society this year with the same vivacity and purpose as its founder, Bill Drayton. The Society provided its 210 members with a well-organized program each term. In the Fall, the topics concentrated on the Middle East and India, highlighted by a lecture by an Indian student attending an American college. In the Winter Term, the emphasis was placed on China and Japan. Mr. Royce spoke on Red China, and there were three documentary films. The Spring term included a speaker or movie on every subject broached during the past two terms.

In addition, on November 19, at the only club-sponsored social event of the term, eighty couples danced to the Aces and Satans, and ate Asia Society chop suey.

FORUM

With John Allison and Paul Holdorf providing competent, spirited leadership, Forum made its first full year a significant success. The organization fulfilled its purpose of promoting interest in contemporary political affairs by sponsoring frequent discussions on such topics as nuclear testing and Dan Smoot and also by hosting several important guest speakers.

Highlighting the year were provocative meetings with a vociferous Teamster Union representative, an N.A.A.C.P. secretary, and an ultra-conservative professor from Boston College.

An additional feature in the spring was a Forum-sponsored political essay contest open to underclassmen only. Clearly illustrating the fact the Andover students are vitally concerned with the future of the world, Forum helped shatter the mythical "ne-goism" which had been attributed to P.A. in a national weekly magazine.

This year the French Club suffered slightly from lack of co-ordination. However, on the strength of several outstanding individual efforts, the organization was able to retain its prominence among the school's extra-curricular activities. The emphasis this year was upon presenting cultural aspects of French life, and in this respect the club was quite successful. Among the club's foremost accomplishments was the French Table at the Commons where weekly dinners for Club members and French teachers were served. Le Cercle, the Club newsletter, was improved, and several fine films were obtained: "Mon Oncle", "The 400 Blows", and "Breathless". Next year's French Club will offer its members more social activity coupled with an enriched cultural program.

The Spanish Club had a successful year in 1961-62 under the leadership of its officers: DeSola, Gonzalez, Atri and Crystal. With the guidance of Mr. Couch, meetings were held approximately every two weeks.

In the fall term several talks were given by students representing five Spanish speaking countries. Bob Arras (Panama), Todd Everett and Rick Phillips (Venezuela), Jose Parsons (Philippines), Elias Atri (Mexico), and Cesar Calderon, Gorge Gonzalez and Alberto Pico (Puerto Rico) gave highly interesting and instructive talks.

The winter term was marked by Elias Atri's bull-fighting session and a program at which four Latin American girls from Abbot spoke.

On April 14 the Club held one of the most successful dances of the year and then wound up the season in great style with a late spring picnic at the Log Cabin.

Sporting radical membership cards which were printed by an obscure lithographer in San Francisco, this year's Russian Club enjoyed remarkable success. Under the spirited leadership of its Tsar, Chuck Bakst, the organization was one of the most active groups in the school, sponsoring a wide variety of programs varying from a genuine Russian supper prepared by Vice-Tsar Obninsky, through the movie "The Cranes Are Flying" procured by Court Advisor Mr. Castle, to an intriguing talk by George Cabot Lodge appearing through the help of the Massachusetts Republican Committee. Other memorable efforts of the cell included the fabulous "Twistki" Party and the debate with the Dana Hall Russian Club.

CHESS CLUB

Under its officers — Freeland Abbot (President) and Tony Davis (Secretary) — the Andover Chess Club had a fruitful year in spite of a poor match record. In the Fall Term, the Club defeated Brooks, 4-2. The Winter Term saw a strong Exeter team get the better of the Blue squad, 5-0. P.A. was hampered in this match by the absence of Arthur Durham and Cesar Calderon, who normally play at the first and second boards. Two months later, the same Red combine, undaunted at having seen Durham draw with Grandmaster Samuel Reshevsky just a week or two before, again downed Andover by a score of $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$.

The year was also highlighted by the introduction of a prize tournament and the election of Tony Davis as next year's President.

DESIGN CLUB

During the course of the year, amidst the odor of turpentine and paint, the Design Club held its informal meetings at the studios of the Addison Museum of American Art. The informal atmosphere of its meetings is part of the club's "laissez-faire" policy of letting its members paint, draw, sculpt, and create anything they wish. The club affords its members the place and the materials with which they may produce their "objets d'art." Dispersed over the year are films, open to all those interested, which show different aspects of art — modern, primitive, classic, etc. The club offers to its members a chance to get together and to talk, to analyze and to discuss the works of famous artists. In short, the Design Club is the instrument with which the student artist may express himself.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club is small but it performs a function of importance to the entire school. From the filthy hole in the basement of Peabody house that the club uses as a darkroom, emanate the photographs that adorn the pages of the weekly Phillipian. The club is even willing to accept the blame for many of the pictures in this book.

One of the most remarkable feats of the club this year was performed by John Hayes, who handled the prom portraits. Unable to start work until the Phillipian vacated the premises, he moved into the darkroom at 2:30 a.m. and succeeded in completing all 100 portraits in time for chapel.

The club ended a long string of advisorless years by securing the services of Mr. Bensley. Mr. Bensley was particularly useful in obtaining a new darkroom and a fine enlarger for the club.

RIFLE CLUB

The Rifle Club enjoyed a successful year under the leadership of Peter S. Vermeil, President; Chris Geissmann, Vice-President; Mike Francisco, Secretary; and Jonas Stafford, Executive Officer — all of whom were overlorded by Mr. Roehrig.

During the season, the team, captained by Vermeil, took part in five shoulder-to-shoulder matches. P.A. defeated Tabor Academy, 907-895; Exeter, 892-880; and St. Paul's, 864-847. Repeating last year's success, Andover took first place in the New England Prep School Rifle League Tournament. P.A.'s John Hayes coped the tourney's High Individual trophy. A match on March 7 against Gloucester High's R.O.T.C. team saw the Blue succumb, 894-882.

SCIENCE CLUB & JOURNAL

Among the activities of the Science Experimenters this year was a film series and a guest lecture. The lecture series was initiated to give students the chance to meet informally with scientists and to discuss current topics and problems related to their research. The lecturer this year was the biochemist Konrad Bloch, who spoke on oxygen and evolution.

Itself still an experiment, the Independent School Science Journal published two large issues this year. Started last year by George Pieczenik, the purpose of the Journal is to encourage research by students in independent secondary schools. Support was not lavish, but those involved felt that it will continue to be a worthwhile experience, both in the preparation and editing of scientific papers.

OUTING CLUB

Led by President Jim Underwood, Vice-President Pete Strang, and Secretary-Treasurer George Peters, the 1961-1962 Outing Club had an active and vigorous year. Mr. Sanborn, the faculty advisor, and the Directors — Martin, Booth, Griswold, and Peters — spent a great deal of time and energy planning and carrying out the club's activities.

In the fall and the spring, the club held lobster feeds in Kennybunkport, Maine. In the Winter Term, the club conducted several ski trips to North Conway, New Hampshire, and sponsored a visit by John Jay and his film, "Once Upon An Alp." In the spring, there was the annual club meeting and mountain trips to Kersage, N. H.

RALLIES

ANDOVER-EXETER WEEKEND

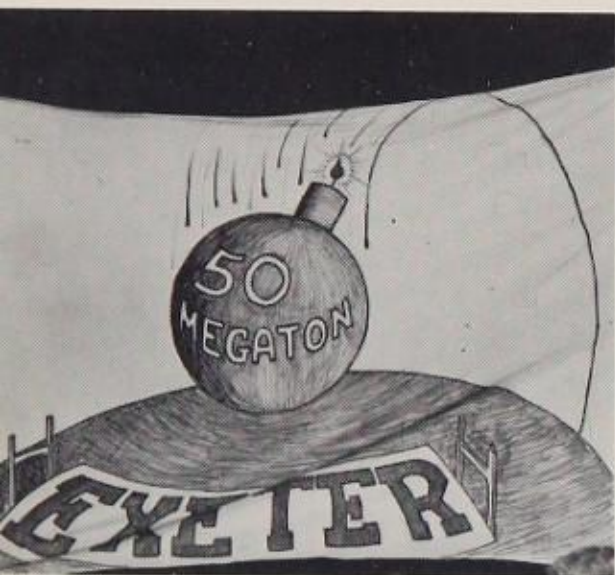

A previously dormant school spirit suddenly came to life as the school assembled on the steps of Sam Phil on Friday night Nov. 10 for the torchlight rally which kicked off the events of the Andover-Exeter weekend. Both the team and the rest of the student body appeared more than willing to forget the dismal first half of the season and take out their wrath on the Exies the following day. The rally was spiced with telegrams from "Fergy," and the parade of "victory" banners against a background of music by the P.A. Band.

Saturday brought "Operation Exeter," in which 23 busloads of apprehensive fans made the trek to the cold northlands of New Hampshire to watch the game at Exeter's Plimpton Field. The Andover fans watched with glee as the Blue tore apart their Exeter foes, 18-8. The victory bonfire on Saturday night seemed a bit anti-climactic, but it was well deserved by a team which was really "up" for the Big Game.

FOOTBALL

Led by captain Pete Richardson, the varsity football team improved over the season to a well-earned 3-2-2 record. After a loss to Northeastern, a win over Tufts, and a series of close decisions, the Blue climaxed its 1962 season with an 18-8 romp over Exeter.

On September 30, the Blue dropped its opening game to the Northeastern Freshmen, 28-22. After Northeastern scored early in the first quarter, Andover picked up its first tally, moving the ball from the Red forty-seven to the end zone. Richardson scored the touchdown and a Grant to Andrews pass accounted for the extra points. But Northeastern scored again on a sixty-five yard run and got the extra points to lead 14-8.

After a scoreless second quarter, the Blue picked up two touchdowns in the third. Mike Moonves intercepted a Northeastern aerial and returned the ball to the Red seven. Two plays later, Hootstein raced around end for the score and grabbed a Grant pass for two more points. Three minutes later, Hootstein took the hand-off on the Northeastern thirty-five and scored again for the final Blue tally. Northeastern scored twice in the fourth period to win 28-22.

The following week Andover won its first game of the season, defeating the Tufts Freshmen 12-6. Tufts scored late in the first quarter on a right end sweep, but the Blue tied the score right before the half. Bob Lux intercepted a Tufts pass on their twenty-five and returned the ball to the ten. Four plays later, Rog Farrar made the touchdown. In the third quarter, Tone Grant pitched out to Hootstein for the final tally.

On October 14, Andover battled to a 6-6 tie with Lawrenceville in a game highlighted throughout by a brilliant punting duel between Mike Moonves and Charlie Bacon of Lawrenceville. After a scoreless first half, halfback Bob Lux initiated the lone Andover scoring drive when he intercepted a Larrie aerial and returned the ball to the Lawrenceville forty-three. A pair of pitchouts to Dan Hootstein coupled with a pass to Jorge Gonzales moved the ball to the Larrie three. From there Hootstein dashed into the endzone. The Larries tied the score on a seventy yard jaunt by halfback Linn Morrow early in the fourth quarter.

The weekend after the Lawrenceville contest the Blue dropped a close game to Mt. Hermon 8-7. The score remained deadlocked 0-0 until the middle of the second quarter when halfbacks Jorge Gonzales and Bob Lux moved the ball within passing distance of the goal. Grant passed to Lux in the endzone and Bob Clift made the conversion to put Andover ahead 7-0. Later in the same quarter, Mt. Hermon scored their TD on a rollout and sweep. A second sweep for the extra points gave the Hermons their margin of victory.

On October 28, the Blue tied Deerfield 6-6. Although both teams moved the ball well, neither was able to score in the first quarter. In the second frame, a Green halfback intercepted a Grant pass on the Blue sixteen and returned the ball to the three. Two plays later, Mooney crossed the goalline to give Deerfield the lead, 6-0. After Pete Richardson and Rog Farrar moved the ball from the Andover forty-three to the Deerfield eight on alternating line crashes. Grant faked to Farrar early in the fourth quarter and scooted into the end zone, tying the game 6-6.

Paced by Rog Farrar's two touchdowns, the Blue ground out a 14-13 victory over the Williams Freshmen. Farrar scored the first Blue tally early in the first quarter. Five plays later, however, the Frosh scored on a fifty-four yard run, and moved ahead 7-6 on a successful point after attempt. Farrar picked up the Blue's final touchdown in the second period. Grant flipped to Andrews to put Andover ahead 14-7. Although the Frosh picked up another TD in the third quarter, Morry Zukerman blocked the point after attempt to preserve the Andover win.

On November 14, the Blue climaxed its season with an 18-8 romp over Exeter. Fullback Rog Farrar scored two touchdowns, and halfbacks Jorge Gonzales and Bob Lux added outside speed. After a scoreless first period, Andover picked up its first TD on a twenty yard touchdown drive with Farrar plunging over the goalline from the one. Four plays later, Pete Watson recovered an Exeter fumble on the Exeter forty-eight. Gonzalez moved the ball to the twenty-five on a Grant pass, and Lux spun into the end zone to score. Farrar scored the third Blue tally early in the third quarter on a dash into the endzone from the five. Exeter scored its lone TD on a sweep by Mahoney in the waning moments of the fourth quarter. Neville got the extra points to make the final score 18-8, Andover.

Though the soccer team for 1961 was not undefeated, it did have a very successful year: eight wins, two losses and one tie. Considering the competition like Yale, Harvard, and Brown, it was a season for Coach DiClemente and the whole team to be proud of.

After a quick victory over Governor Dummer, the "Dekemen" of '61 were reunited with some of the previous year's team in the game against Yale: Captain Bill Torbert, Denny Gallaudet and three others who had started for "Deke." In the first half the stone-wall defense of Tim Beck and Dean Lucas kept the ball out of Andover territory, and as a result, Captain Budge Upton finally broke away and put one in the nets. In the second half, Yale pressed the P.A. defense a lot harder; nevertheless, the hard-fighting Andover halfbacks kept feeding the ball up to the forwards, until at last Jeff Brown headed one in. Upton followed suit on a lob from Stan Smoyer, and Keith Chiappa came through with a penalty kick. Final score — P.A. 4, Yale 0.

The team then went on to defeat M.I.T., Dartmouth, and Medford High. With a five game winning streak, the soccer team was once again looking forward to an undefeated season. In the following game with Mount Hermon, the team went all out. Halfbacks Jim Griswold, Tom Gilbert, and Jim Mettler kept pumping shots at the goal and setting up plays. The Blue then found a hole in the Mount Hermon defense. Budge Upton got hot and continuously smashed down the field, tallying a grand total of six goals. It was truly amazing to watch him and Tino Heredia, a four year veteran, working the ball right down the middle.

In the St. Paul's game, P.A. drove just as hard as it had against Mount Hermon, and although the ball remained in the S.P.S. half of the field the whole game, no one could score: shots bounced off the cross bars and off the players who had packed tightly together in the mouth of their goal. The St. Paul's goalie and full backs formed an airtight defense that halted even the Blue.

After a shutout against Deerfield, the team of '61 found itself undefeated for eight consecutive games, and the "Dekemen" of past and present for twenty-three straight games. P.A.'s goalie, Tom Israel, had also done an exceptionally fine job and had tied Denny Gallaudet's awe-inspiring record of seven shutouts. Although the strong Andover defense had screened most of the offensive plays, the occasional shots that got through really kept "Izzi" on his toes.

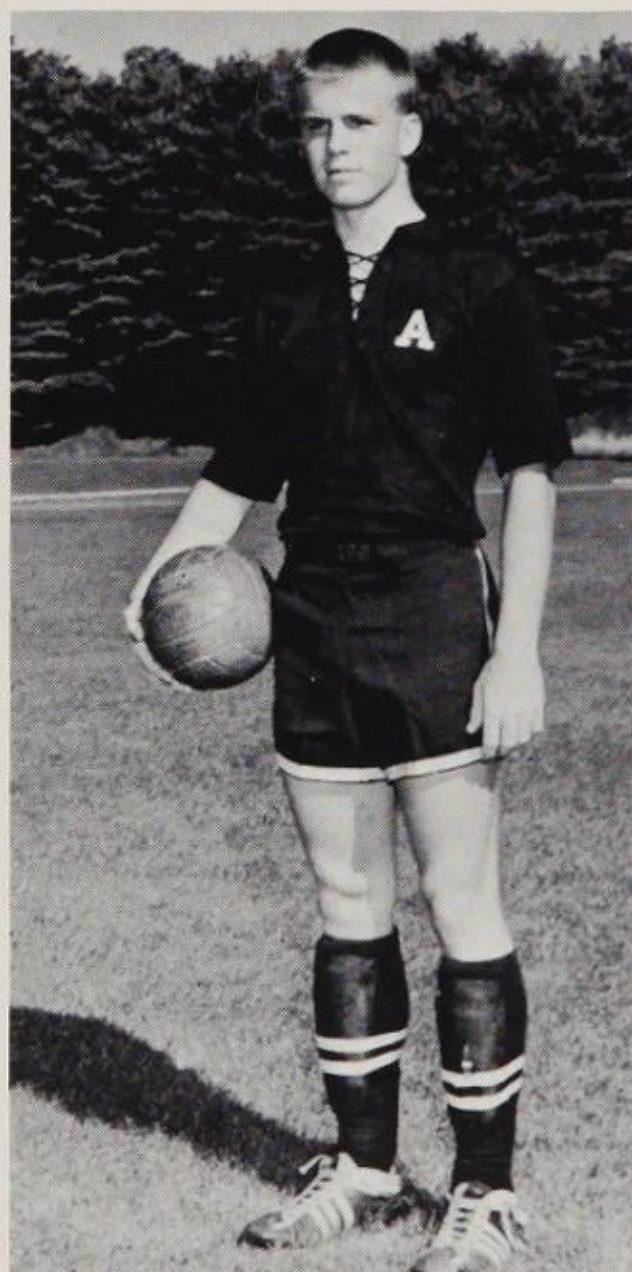

The game against Harvard was a close one. The Blue scored first with only eight minutes left to play, but Harvard tied it up, and then went on to win in the overtime. It was a tough one to lose, but, as "Deke" said on the bus back to Andover, "You have to learn to take the losses along with wins."

That Friday the team was out for blood. Brown Freshmen had been undefeated, and would be out there driving; therefore, if the "Dekemen" wanted to win, they would have to fight. Brown was a fast and rough team; nevertheless, the Blue matched them play for play, and with a couple of good breaks, managed to dethrone them.

The whole school was out supporting the soccer team in its last game of the season which was against Exeter. The Blue outdrove Exeter, and took more shots; however, just as in the St. Paul's game, they could not make a goal. Finally Exeter got a clean goal on a corner kick, which decided the winner.

Contrary to what its record of one win in seven dual meets might suggest, the 1961 cross country team did not run into any bubonic plagues. The thinclads seemed to be checkmated by the nightmarish reality that all cross country squads must at one time or another face: lack of depth.

With a nucleus of Captain Bob Cocoran and Wendell John to build around, Messrs. Kimball and Hollowell quickly mustered a force of runners to meet the usually ineffectual M.I.T. Freshmen. Although the Engineers proved to be a bit more potent than the usually reliable sources had predicted, upper prep Bill Baumer, along with lowers Dick Howe and Doug Everett, proved to all that they could be out in front with the best of them.

Wright (Mgr.), Klahn, Grew, Morrow, Wishnatsky, Moody, Eames, Reed, McCormack, Burton.

Travelling to Deerfield the next week, Andover succumbed to a Green squad which was intent on following the pattern set by M.I.T. The Harriers' subsequent jaunt to the University of New Hampshire unfortunately proved to be even less of a success. The Frosh were slightly more fleet than had been anticipated and P.A. was again politely but thoroughly squashed. Rather irritated by this, their latest shortcoming, the Blue performed admirably in their next outing to defeat St. Paul's and record the most coordinated team effort of the season.

The Harriers now had only four days in which to catch their breath and could not prepare adequately in time to meet their next foe, Tufts Freshmen. With defeat once again rapidly but neatly piled upon defeat, P.A. met the Frosh of Northeastern and Harvard within three days of each other. The only bright spots in either of these meets were Bob Corcoran's times of 13:53 and 13:59. The leggers finished the season with one more gallant but unsuccessful effort at the interscholastics, where they finished seventh in a field of eight schools, including such rivals as Huntington, Choate, and Exeter.

Although the final glance at the score card showed several more marks in the losing column than in the winning column, and even though the J.V.'s lost all six of their meets, and despite the fact that both the Club and J.V. were handed sound defeats by Exeter, with Captain-elect Howe, Baumer, John, Everett, and Wilmer returning to lead the squad, the 1962 cross country team may be strong contenders for the New England Prep School Championship.

The hockey team enjoyed a successful season as it compiled a 14-4 record, including a first place finish in the Lawrenceville Tournament over Christmas vacation.

In the first game of the season, the Blue squeaked by a scrappy Melrose High team, 2-1, on Jorge Gonzalez's tally in the final minute of play.

Seeded number two, the Andover team romped to three straight shutout victories in the Lawrenceville Tournament at the beginning of vacation. The Blue swept past Choate 10-0, Lawrenceville 6-0, and Taft 3-0 to annex the title.

At the beginning of the winter term, the team succumbed to a surprisingly powerful Brown freshmen squad, 6-1. The following Wednesday, Andover fell in an away game with the Harvard Freshmen, 3-2. The team started to roll the following weekend, displaying pinpoint passing and excellent defense in a 10-1 rout of the Bowdoin Frosh.

Charlie Stuart & Co. then whipped past Milton, Deerfield, and Belmont Hill. Dex Newton was called on to make a mere fifteen saves as he recorded his fourth shutout of the season, 4-0, against Milton. John Greene, Morrison, and Gonzalez did the scoring and Dick Leger starred in the nets as the Blue crept past Deerfield.

"Gonzo" netted the winner in this sudden-death overtime thriller.

The Dartmouth contest was the season's most exciting as a Saturday evening SRO crowd watched Andover trounce the Green Frosh, 5-1. In the next two games, the team scored ten goals to the opposition's three as they glided past Middlesex, 5-3, and Hebron, 5-0. Morrison, Smoyer, and Gonzalez accounted for half of the scoring in these two victories.

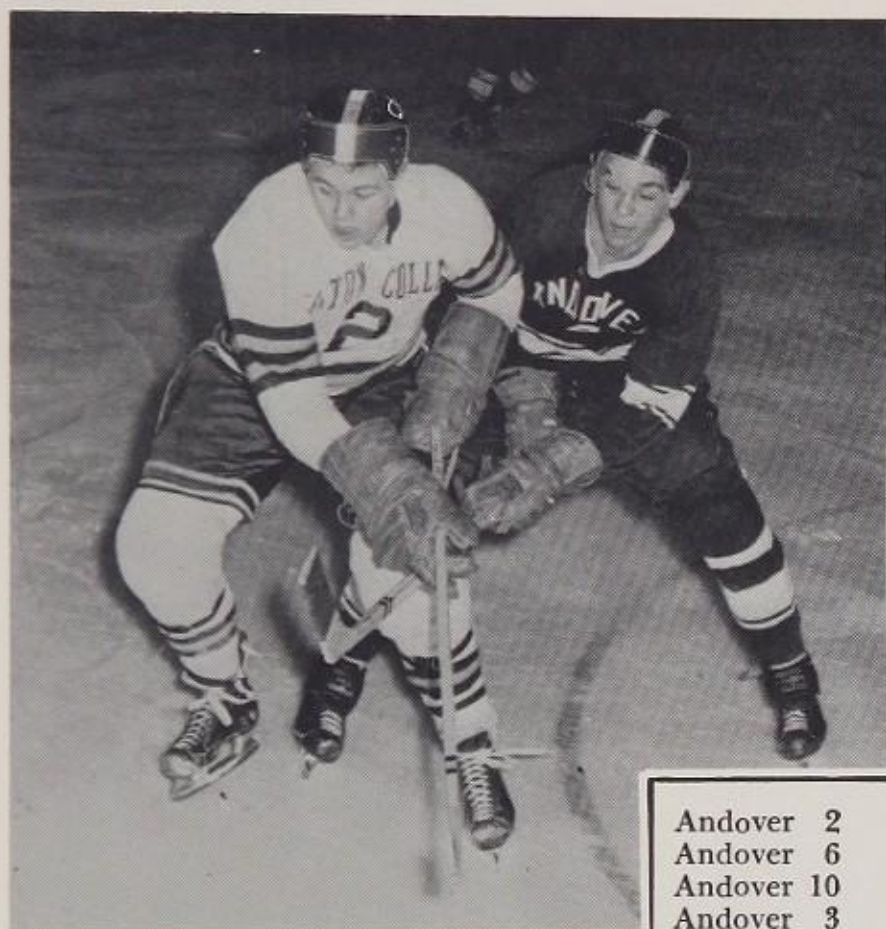

The following Saturday, Andover again faced the college freshmen nemesis as it bowed to Boston College, 4-2. Again travelling to Harvard, Andover lost a 3-2 heartbreaker to the Crimson JV's. Behind 2-0 going into the third period, hustle and determination plus "Gonzo's" two goals brought a tie before Harvard scored in the final minute to clinch the victory.

Smoyer and Newton were the story as Andover swept past St. Pauls, 3-0. "Snooks" potted two while Dex turned in his fifth whitewash.

The Exeter contest turned out to be a thriller, with the underdogs from the north proving to be much stronger than expected. Andover's superiority prevailed, however, as the team ended a fine season with a 2-1 victory.

BASKETBALL

Front: Westcott, Caldwell, Zukerman, Moonves (Captain), Andrews, Belforti, Grant.
Back: DiClemente (Coach), Pappas, Eakland, Wilmer, Rogers, Snyder, Toivainen (Mgr.).

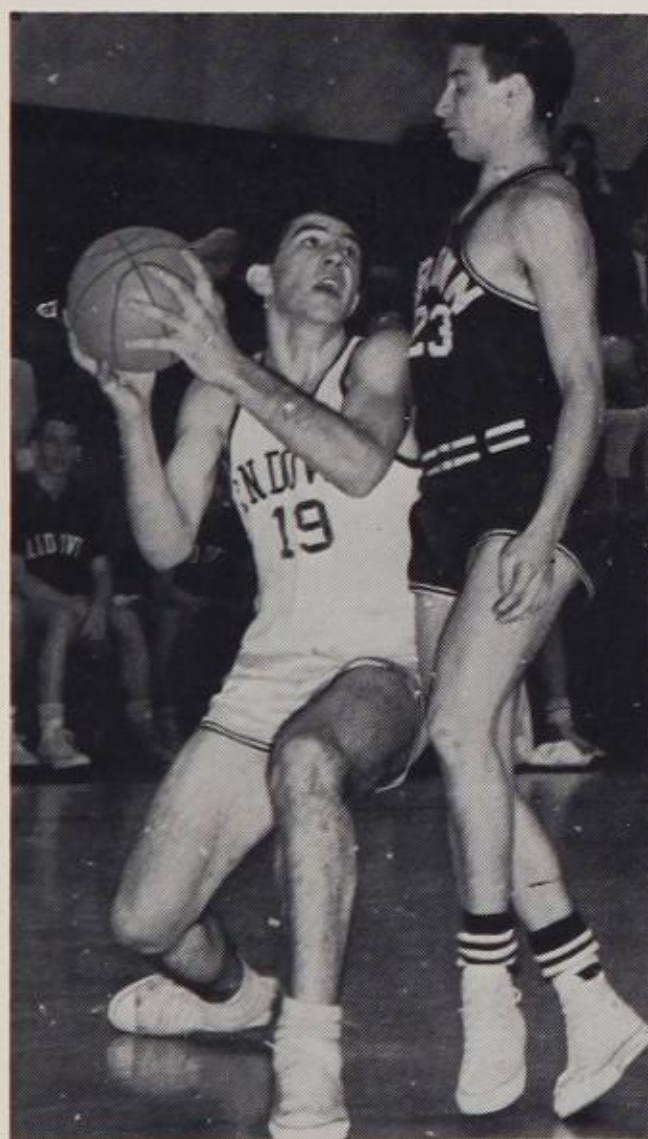

For the last four years, the Andover basketball teams, while showing teamwork, drive, hustle, and finesse, have lacked height. This year was no exception as Joe Belforti, the tallest member of the starting five, was only 6-3. The absence of height hurt in rebounding and defending against inside shots. Hence, we lost quite a few close games. (But the record will never tell the story of Moon's leadership, Sam Caldwell's shooting, George Andrew's consistently high scoring, and Joe's competitive drive around the boards. Skip Eames, Jay Wescott, Hank Wilmer, and Zuk also turned in some fine performances.)

A summary of the season will disclose another weakness of the Andover basketball system: we play too many college freshmen teams. If there were more prep-schools in our schedule, the competition would be much more even. (Witness the Tabor game.)

Andover played solid ball in its first two games, against M.I.T. and Bowdoin, but could not handle the height of the frosh teams. The Harvard J.V. was completely out of our class, using a terrifying fast break offence. Another loss, this time to U.N.H., preceded the first win of the campaign. Tabor came with a lot of height and a tremendous guard (43 points), but the Blue was outstanding with all of the first five scoring in double figures and beat them 90 to 73. Too many fouls plagued us in the Deerfield game, and we lost 75 to 63. Andover held a seven point lead at the half in the Exeter game before Exeter exploded in the third period. Our late rally closed the gap to four points at the finish. Caldwell, Moonves, Belforti, and Andrews all scored well in defeating Mt. Hermon 79 to 77 in an exciting overtime. The high point of the season came in the Harvard game. The cocky Johnnies withheld a few of their best players until the end of the game. These stars succeeded in tying the game, but with one second left George Andrews scored with a 40-foot set shot, which beat them. The final game of the season against Exeter turned out to be a dismal one as the Exies dished out 75 points to our 68.

*Front: Muller, Loomis, McAfee, Gilmore, Higgins (Captain), McCollum, Schuartz, Sung.

The season started slowly for the Blue wrestling team: the heavyweight position became vacant and two stalwarts were injured. However, Ned Carleton came along creditably at heavyweight, and Eric Chase and Randy Fleming did able jobs as replacements. Paced by veterans, Captain Ivan Higgins (147), Pete Muller (115), Tom Gilmore (127), and Andy Goodwin (133), the team caught fire in mid-season and finished strong. Captain Higgins was an excellent leader and a fine wrestler.

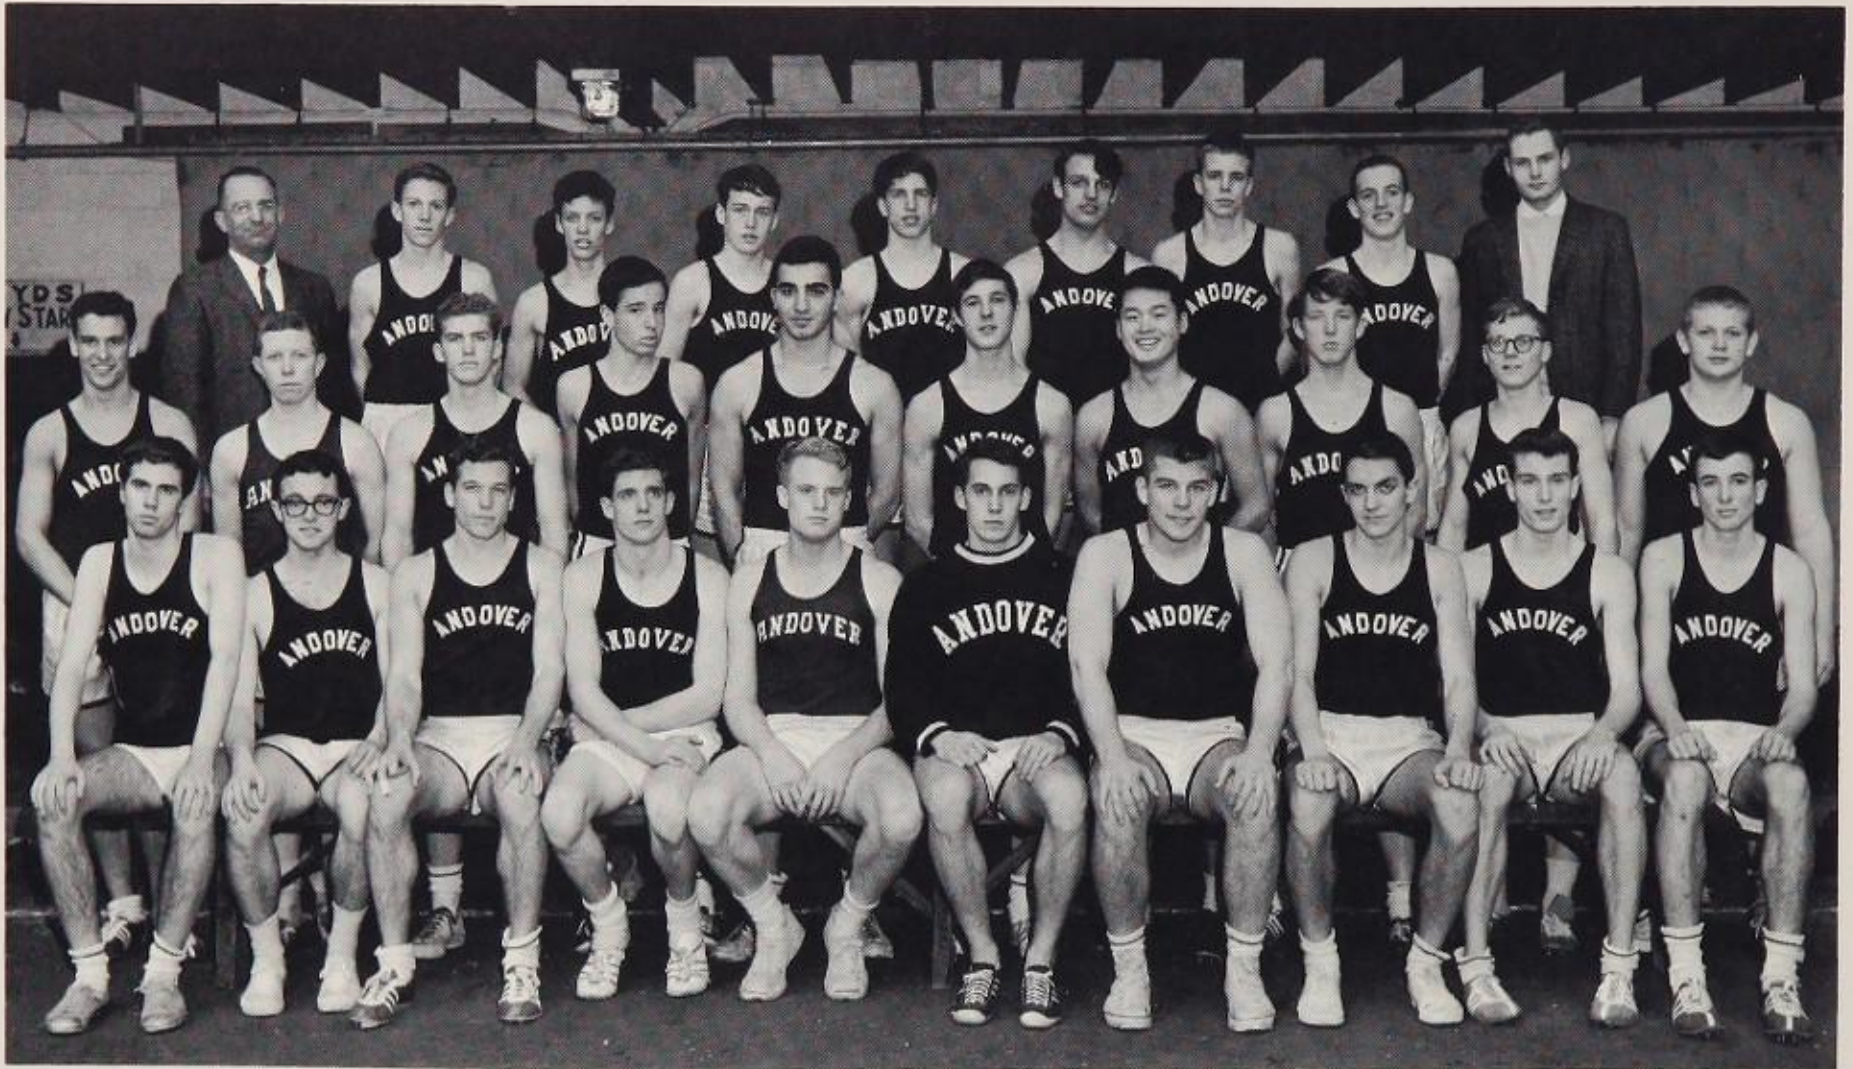

A December loss to M.I.T. was followed by successive losses to Mt. Pleasant High, Governor Dummer, and Warwick High. While Higgins, Gilmore, and Carleton were doing well, the younger and competitively immature members of the team were gaining experience. With the return of Doug Wales, the Milton match became the season's first victory. Pins by Carleton, Muller, and Higgins and a fine team effort gave the Blue their second victory as they trounced Mt. Hermon. Gilmore, Wales, and Carleton led the team to another win with pins against their Browne & Nichols opponents. In the concluding match of the year victories by Gilmore, Goodwin, Higgins, Wales, and Muller brought Andover within one point of Exeter, perennially a wrestling powerhouse.

After soundly trouncing Lawrence High in the practice meet at the end of the Fall Term, Captain Tim Beck at shotput led a strong Blue team fortified with seniors Jack Badman and John Levin in the weight, Tony King in the pole vault, Dave Powell and Dave Quattrone in the hurdles, Jim Mettler in the mile (despite an appendectomy in the early season), and the "star of the 1000" Keith Chiappa. During the season there were many creditable improvements in all fields, but especially in the weight and the jumping events.

The two tri-way season openers with their smashing victories silenced many of the critics that had feared for the team's depth here and strength there. Starring in these were next year's captain-elect Mike Kaiser in the high jump and good weight and distance showings. The Dartmouth meet saw Chiappa, Mettler, and Badman win their events with almost casual ease. But in the next meet with the Harvard Freshmen, not even Chiappa's decisive win over Freshman Pete Huvelle (P.A. '61) in the 1000 could keep the Freshmen from taking the victory. A day later the B.A.A. Annual Andover-Exeter Mile Relay saw Andover with Jeff Huvelle, Phil Reed, Mettler, and Chiappa leave the Exies 40 yards behind at the finish. Brown Freshmen gave the Blue another disappointment but Cahners and Captain Beck showed up well. Spirits were raised by several clean sweeps against M.I.T. Frosh, ending up with a smashing P.A. victory. The climatic Andover-Exeter meet was disappointing because the Blue came so close, but it was decisive and fair. Generally performances were good with King's winning the vault and Chiappa's taking the "1000" highlighting a strong team effort.

The Andover Swimming Team did better than its 3-6 record shows. All-American Bill Schubach set two school records this year; Captain Hank Stone, Bill Vincent, and Stu Davis also turned in consistently good performances.

The mermen started off the season by whipping Portland 78-17, then lost to Worcester Academy because of a disqualification in the freestyle relay. The Blue smashed Mt. Hermon in the next meet by a score of 70-25. Andover captured five one-two sweeps, and won the two relays as well.

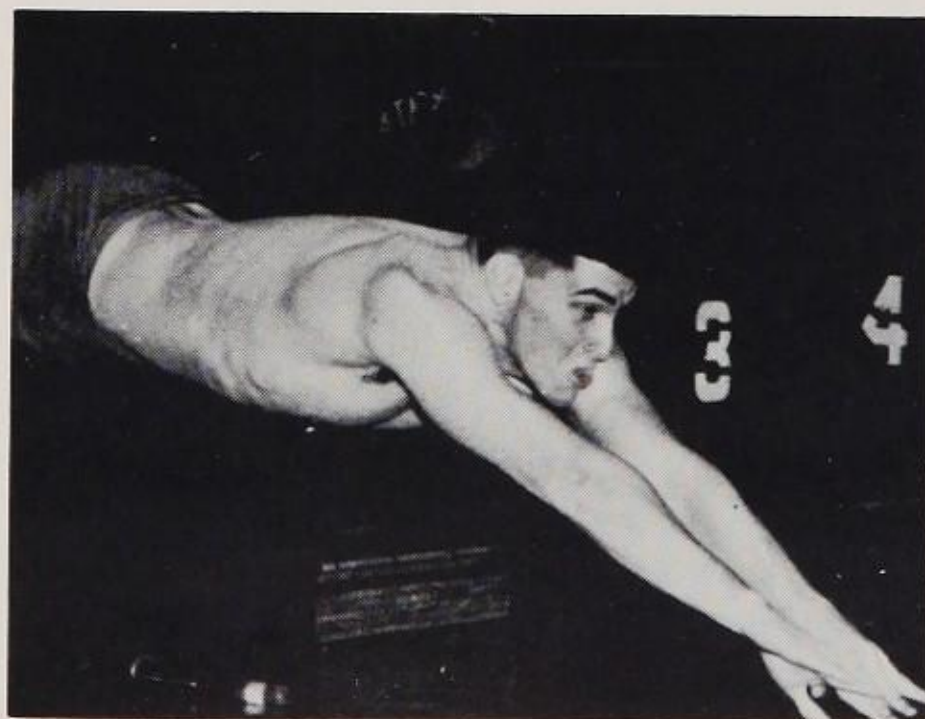

After Dartmouth tripped the Blue 53-42, Deerfield then trounced the Wetmen 64-30, setting a national prep record of 1:45.3 in the medley relay. Davis and Schubach were the only P.A. swimmers who took firsts.

The Blue rebounded strongly in the Brown Frosh meet to win 80-15! Andover took both relays, ten out of eleven firsts, and seven one-two sweeps. Bill Schubach broke Stu Davis' four-day old 400 freestyle record with an amazing 4:29.5. "Schuby" then tied Dave Kennedy's 200 Individual Medley mark of 2:15.0.

AAU Champion Duff Tvler led Williston to a 56-39 victory over the Blue, setting a national prep record of 49.6 in the 100 free. Schubach and Davis swept the Individual, but Williston returned with a national prep and three Andover pool marks.

After losing to the powerful Harvard Frosh, Andover fell to a superior Exeter team by a score of 62-33. Schubach, Davis, & Co. were thwarted as lower Tom Kutvirt took the only Blue first.

SKIING

The Andover skiing team had an enjoyable and successful season this year. Although the team had only two returning lettermen, Captain George Peters and Jim Griswold, it was strengthened by the addition of preps Sverre Maehlum and John Meck. Maehlum, a Norwegian on the Eastern Nordic Team, led the team in the Nordic events. Meck, an upper, placed well in all the events at the Junior Eastern Alpine Championships.

The team took a very third place in its first meet of the season, with Meck and Maehlum placing high in the cross-country as well as in the jump. The other teams in the meet were Holderness and Gould.

The team did somewhat better in its second meet, taking a first place over Harvard and St. Paul's. Maehlum won both the cross-country and the jump. Captain Peters took second in the jump as Andover skiers swept five of the first ten places.

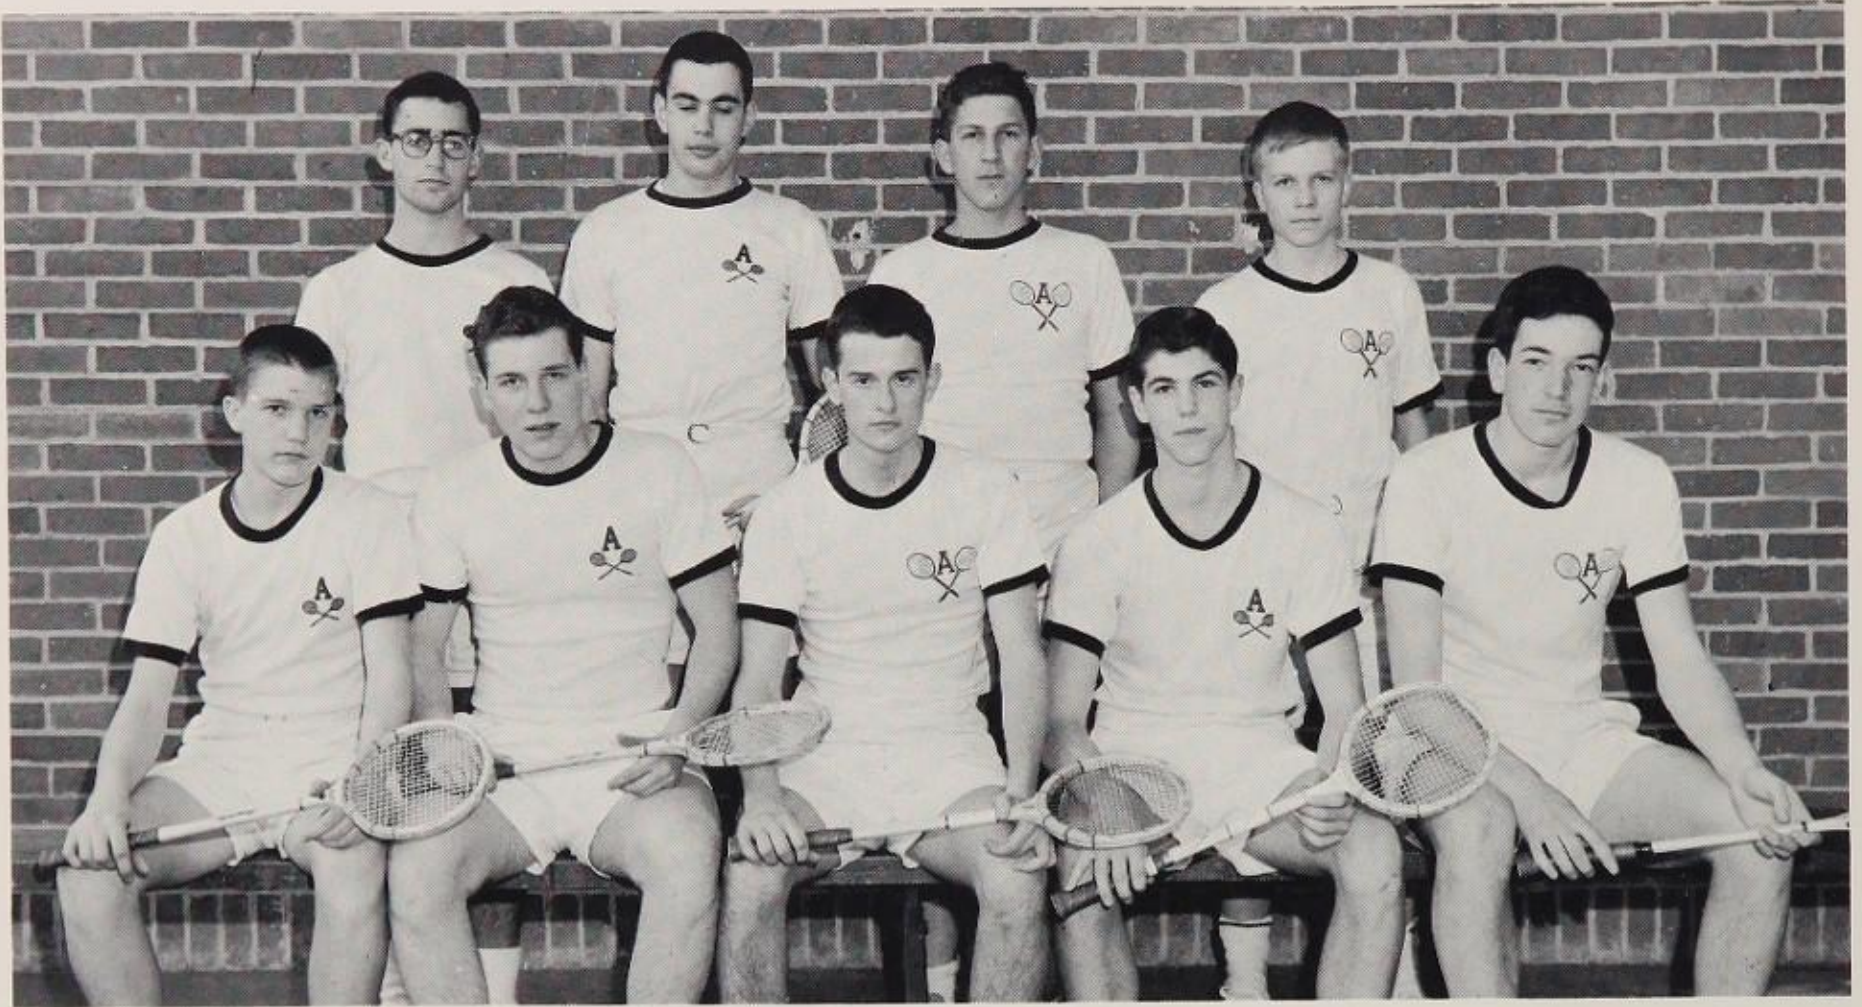

In two meets at Boston Hill, Andover trounced St. Paul's and Exeter. The meets were informal and somewhat abbreviated, however, consisting of only one event, the slalom. The team concluded the season by placing ahead of seven teams in a field of fifteen at the Interscholastics.

Coach McKee expressed optimism about next year's team because of the large number of returning lettermen. He expects that Plamer, Garvan, Meck, and Barnes will all return next year to make it one of Andover's finest seasons. Should Zeus take note of his hybris, however, coach McKee may well find his team swimming in snows melted by Olympian thunderbolts.

After a checkered won and lost record over the first ten matches, the squash team, co-captained by Dinny Adams and Roy Durham, completed its 1962 schedule with three consecutive victories, culminating in a 5-0 triumph over Exeter, to achieve a 7-6 record. Having dropped a pre-Christmas match to the Harvard Frosh and its first Winter Term contest to Middlesex 3-2, the team defeated Choate 6-1 with Tom Gilbert, Adams, and Bill Pugh all winning their matches in three games.

Andover dropped its next match to Deerfield 6-1 with John Goodman providing the only P.A. win, but recovered the following week to defeat St. Paul's 5-0 and Brooks 4-1. Courty Dixon starred for Andover at St. Paul's, winning 15-5, 15-7, 15-8, while Adams, Durham, Gilbert, and Dixon all won their matches in three games against Brooks.

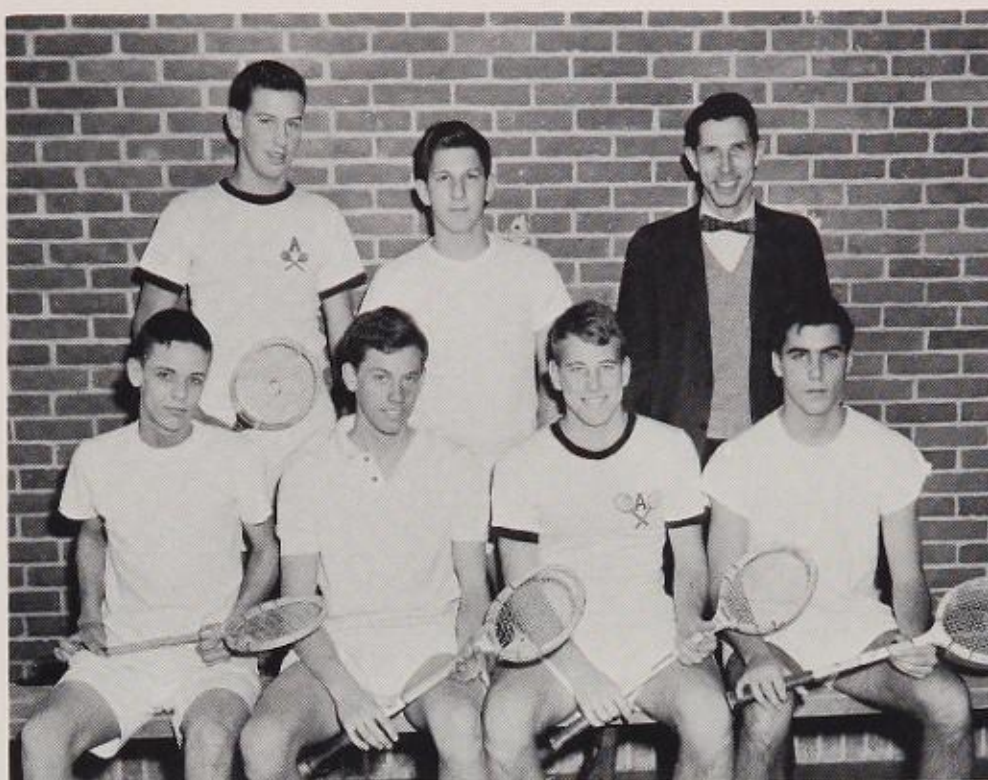

At mid-season, after losing to Exeter 3-2, Andover lost to Yale Frosh 5-1, beat the faculty 6-1, and succumbed to the Harvard Frosh 4-2. Gilbert provided the only win for Andover at Yale, 12-15, 15-7, 15-10, 15-7, while Bob Stevens and Adams both won against Harvard.

After it lost to the Harvard Frosh, the team crushed Dartmouth 7-0 and M.I.T. 6-1. All seven players won their matches in three games against Dartmouth, and all six players who won for Andover against M.I.T. did likewise. To climax the season, Andover defeated Exeter for the first time in history, 5-0. Adams, Dixon, and Stevens all won their matches in three games, while Durham and Gilbert contributed the other victories.

In the eyes of Andover's boxing program, a successful season is not measured by the scores of the matches. Rather the hope that each boxer derived benefit from the rigorous training and tough physical contact makes each season a success. Coach Mikula feels that each member of the team "accomplished a great deal."

Andover dropped both outside contests to St. Paul's, the first by a score of 8-2 and three ties, and the second by 10-5. Nine letters were awarded this year. Captain Rod Young was termed by Coach Mikula as the squad's finest boxer. The program was enormously strengthened by seniors Reiter, Holdorf, Pearsall, and Ferrara.

Sitting: Sawyer, Belforti, Caldwell, Corcoran, Moonves, Grant, Zukerman, Moore, Hootstein, McCullough.

Led by Captain Tone Grant and coached by Mr. Harrison, the baseball team compiled a very creditable 9-4 record. The team, picked during "spring training" in the cage at the end of the Winter Term, played its first game against Northeastern Freshmen on April 14. Dan Hootstein's two triples and a single and Dennis Kloefer's fine relief pitching combined to make a solid 7-4 win. The Blue failed in its next outing against the U.N.H. Freshmen, 3-2. Again Grant and Kloefer pitched well enough to win, but the offense only collected 5 hits and 2 runs.

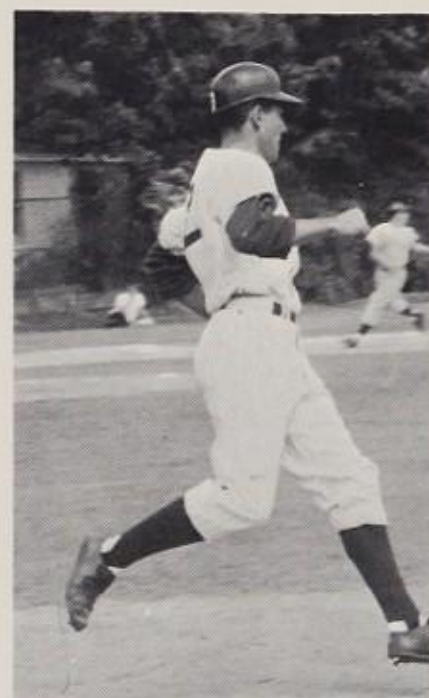

Andover got back on the winning trail as it overpowered the Brown Freshmen 6-5. Joe Belforti was Andover's big gun as Kloefer again performed well in relief. The Blue then rolled over the Harvard Freshmen 12-6, the same squad that had torn Exeter to pieces, 18-1, a few days earlier. Encouraged by their fine showings, the Blue next travelled to New Haven where they defeated the Yale Frosh, 9-7, Kloefer receiving credit for his fourth win of the season.

On May 5, the team played in its first prep-school competition as it mauled Deerfield, 7-2. Grant struck out 14 Green batters and Hootstein got 3 hits to lead the Blue to its fourth straight win.

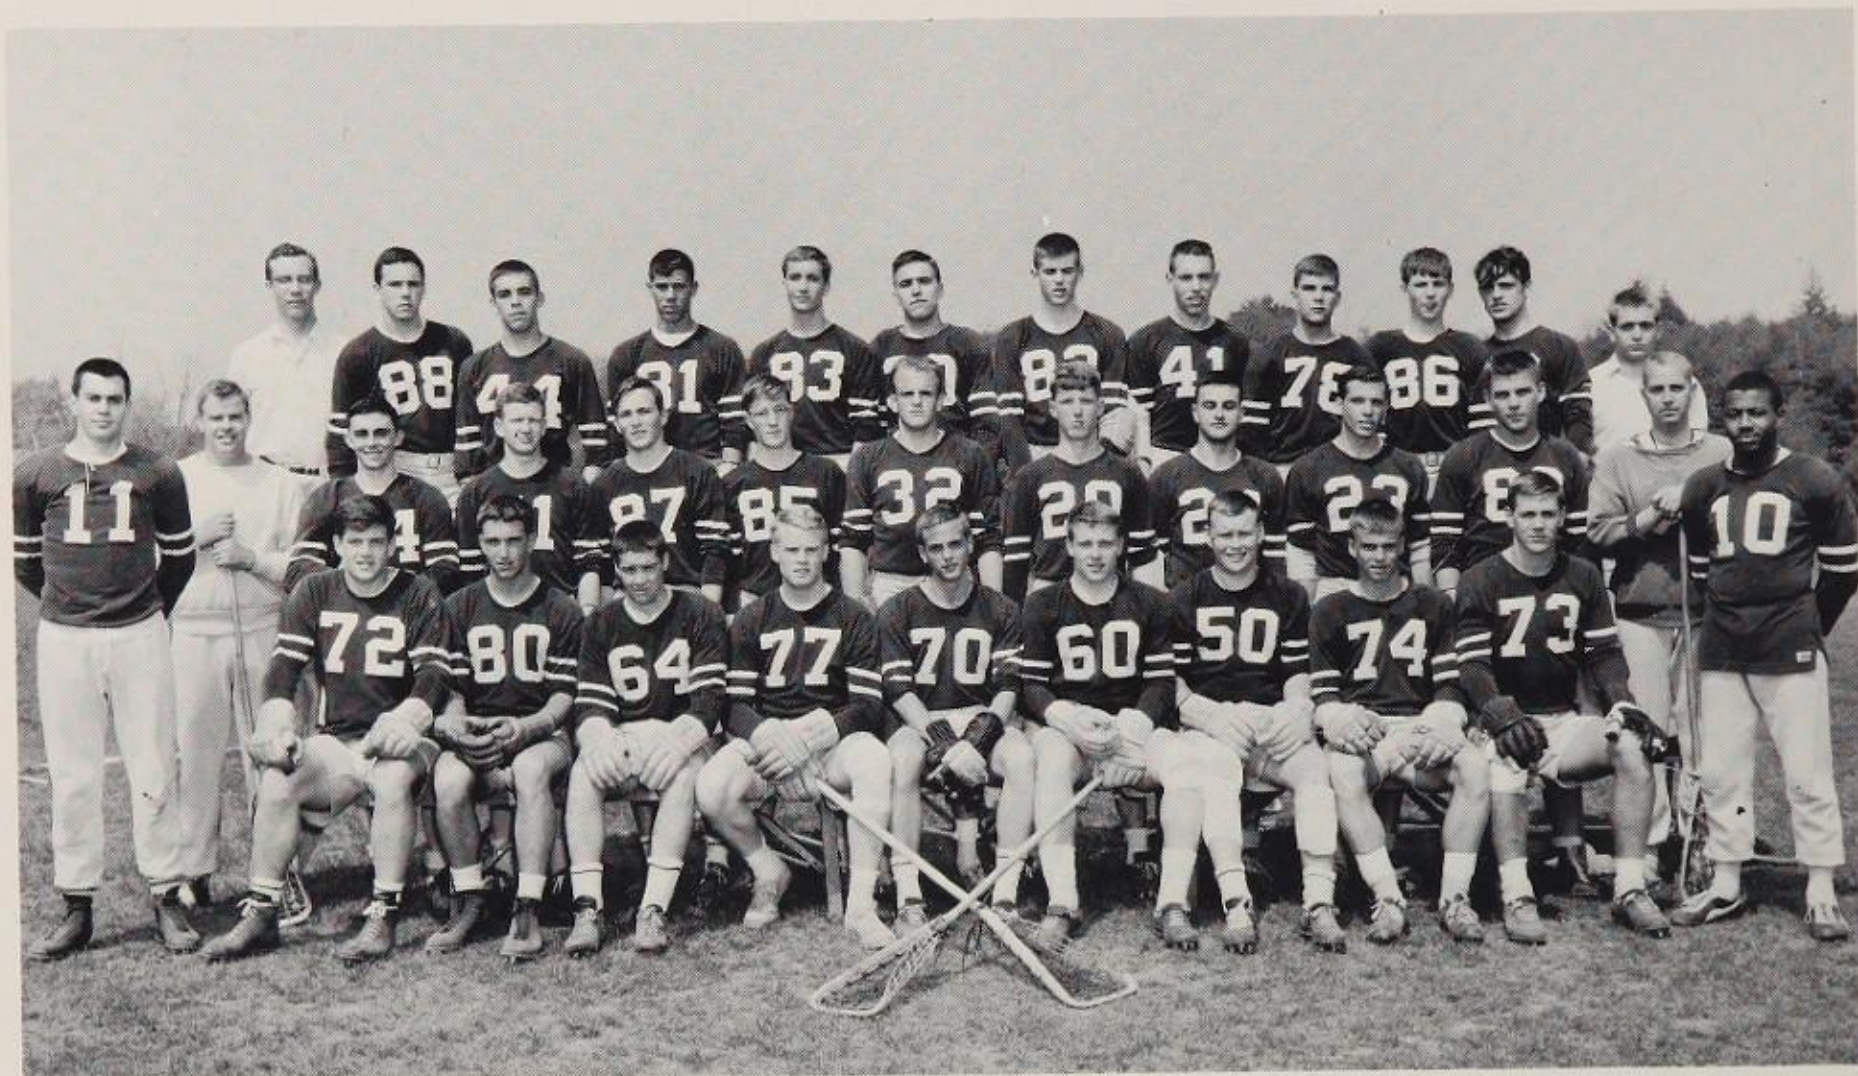

The string was snapped by the Tufts Freshmen who, aided by six P.A. errors, soundly beat the Blue, 9-4. Playing before a big crowd of Prom-goers, the Blue was beaten by the Holy Cross Freshmen, 2-0. Grant again pitched well enough to win, but his teammates could only get two hits to support him.

The Blue then pounded the Dartmouth Freshmen 14-3. Kloepper pitched six good innings to get the win, and every member of the lineup got at least one hit. The Blue played its next to last game on April 30, gaining an almost incredible 15-0 victory over Lawrence High.

On June 2, the Blue played host to Exeter and soundly beat the Red 7-3. Grant in his best performance of the year struck out sixteen batters and Hootstein and Caldwell provided the key hits. After this last game, Hootstein was elected Captain for 1963. The outlook is bright for next year as five starters are returning.

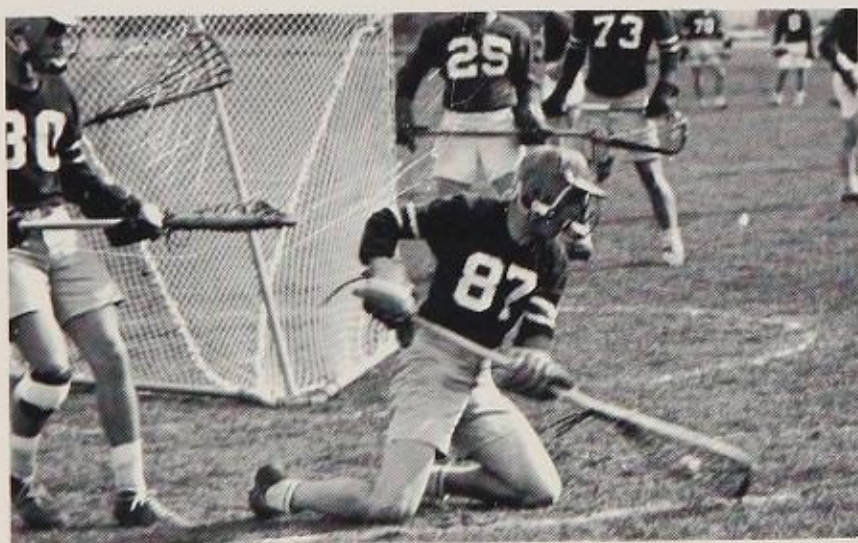

LACROSSE

VARSITY LACROSSE

Back: Wales (Mgr.), Faggi, Nevius, Shulkin, Hooker, Pahl, Eakland, Weiss, Seaman, Wilson, Hay, Jacobs.
Middle: Israel, Mr. Pynchon (Coach), Byrd, Blossman, Newton, White, Farrar, Liles, Lux, King, Salzman, Mr. Hulburd (Coach), Higgins.
Front: Cowden, Peters, Meyer, Badman, Cullen (Capt.), Clift, Reid, Upton, Richardson.

Under the direction of Coaches Hulburd and Pynchon, and bolstered by ten returning lettermen, the varsity lacrosse team turned in an impressive record of ten wins and four losses. In the season's opener, the Blue whisked a helpless Tufts Frosh squad, 19-3, as Budge Upton netted seven goals. Travelling to Governor Dummer the following Wednesday, the team lapsed to a sub-par performance as it lost to the spirited Governors, 3-2.

The team then bounced back with a four game winning streak, amassing forty-two goals while conquering Tabor, Mount Hermon, M.I.T. Frosh, and the U.N.H. Frosh. Outstanding during this streak was the defensive play of Captain Geoff Cullen & Co. who combined time and again with goalie Ivan Higgins to thwart the opposition. Pete Richardson, Dick Meyer, and Budge Upton sparkled on the attack as the latter added nine more goals to lead the team in scoring. The Mount Hermon game was the closest of the four as the Blue, inspired by the play of midfielder George Peters, broke away from a 5-5 halftime deadlock to trounce the Hermies, 11-6.

The Andover Express collapsed momentarily as it lost to a young, but talented, Deerfield team, 7-2. Pete Richardson was the only bright spot in an otherwise bleak afternoon as he netted the two Blue goals, assisted on both by George Peters.

Playing two games in three days, the squad again proved too much for its college freshmen opponents as it raced past inexperienced Holy Cross, 12-3, and Brown, 4-0. The following Wednesday, the Blue continued its winning ways by defeating Harvard Frosh, 8-6.

After losing to the powerful Boston Lacrosse Club, the team began to look forward to the upcoming Exeter contest as it roared past St. Paul's, 12-3. Rog Farrar and Bob Lux were outstanding in this game, and the high score enabled Coach Hulburd to unload the bench against the Paulies.

Dartmouth fell next, 12-6, as Budge Upton, the crafty attackman, tallied five. John Cowden was a standout on defense against the Indians.

The big one with Exeter arrived and the Blue were up for the game. Dex Newton led off with a quick bouncer to give Andover the lead 1-0. The Exies came back with three, however, and at the halftime led 3-2. Andover dominated play throughout the second half, but the attackmen had trouble finding the net. With two minutes to go, the crowd was kept on the edge of their seats as the Blue, down 4-3, hit the post twice but couldn't tally the one that counted. Despite the Exeter loss, Andover looks upon the 1962 lacrosse team as one of the most exciting and aggressive teams in recent years.

CREW

Standing: deSola, Babb, Wells, Born, Wales, Emory, Allen, Vincent, Tidd (Capt.). Kneeling: Hoffman.

Despite its humble beginning seven short years ago, the Andover crew has made startling progress by this year winning the Interscholastics for the second time. Coming back for a week of early practice proved very effective, for the varsity won their first race of the season against the M.I.T. Freshmen Heavies by 2 boat-lengths. The hopes were high for the second and, perhaps, roughest race of the season against Kent; however, Andover was defeated by a length. The loss to Kent stimulated the crew to work harder in order to win the Interscholastics. The crew went on to beat the Union Boat Club and Dartmouth Varsity Lights by over 2 lengths. Hindered by rough water on the Charles, the oarsmen lost their next race to the Harvard Freshmen Second Heavies by $1\frac{1}{2}$ lengths. Journeying to St. Paul's, the Blue defeated the Shattuck crew by $1\frac{1}{2}$ lengths. On the Wednesday before the Interscholastics, the varsity lost to Tabor by being disqualified at the half-mile mark.

But at the Interscholastics, the Blue, trailing until the half-mile mark, shot into the lead as Captain Alf Tidd gradually led the stroke up to a 38. Joyous Andover fans and disappointed Kent alumni saw Andover finish 2 lengths ahead of the St. Paul's Shattuck's crew and $2\frac{1}{2}$ lengths ahead of the Kent shell. The winning time was a 5:23, against a fairly strong head-wind, and was good enough to guarantee a trip to Henley, England.

Filling the bow position on this year's Henley crew is Chico deSola, a veteran of J.V. and third boat. Chris Babb is rowing 2, after having rowed third boat last year. Jim Wells, also a former third boat oarsman, is rowing 3. John Born, having only one season of crew behind him, is rowing 4. At 5 is Hugh Emory from last year's third boat. Having rowed J.V. and third boat, Lee Allen is rowing 5. Gib Vincent, having been on J.V. and third boat, is filling the 7 position. Jim Tidd, this year's captain, the only returning member of last year's varsity, is the stroke. Paul Hoffman is the coxwain. The substitutes are Doug Wales and Gordon Hardy.

SPRING TRACK

Back: Smith, Mazel, Muir, Everett, Lerner, Waterman, Baston, Huvelle, Moore, Wiles, Roper, Mr. Sorota.
Middle: Minier, Lower, John, Bull, Kaiser, Parsons, Baumer, Sorrie, Calderon, Boxer, Avery, Taylor.
Front: Mandell (Mgr.), Reid, Powell, Jones, Lucas, Chiappa, Mettler (Capt.), Boynton, Maehlum, Levin, Rogers, Andrews, Nichols.

Despite the excellent coaching of Mr. Steve Sorota, the 1962 Track Team experienced a frustrating season. Paced by Captain Jim Mettler, the squad consistently took firsts in the discus, hammer, javelin, 440, 880, and the mile, but were continually plagued by a lack of depth.

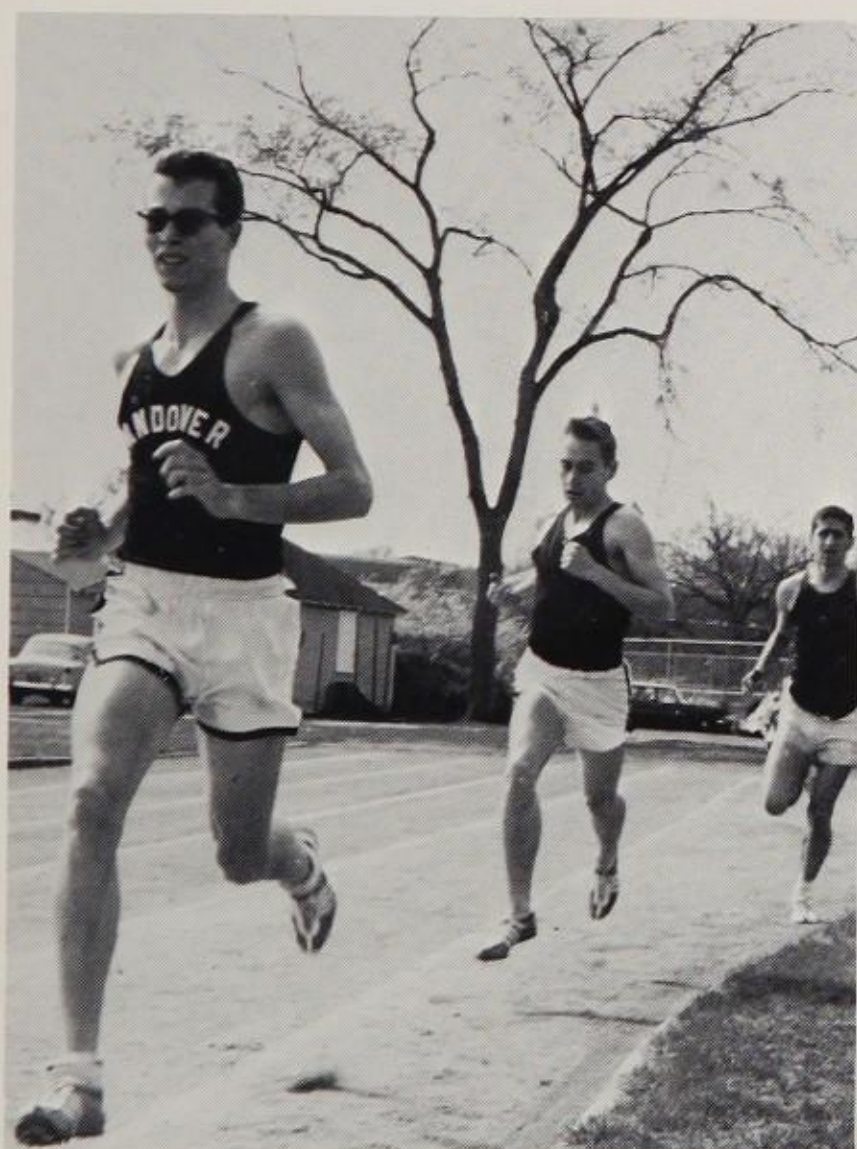

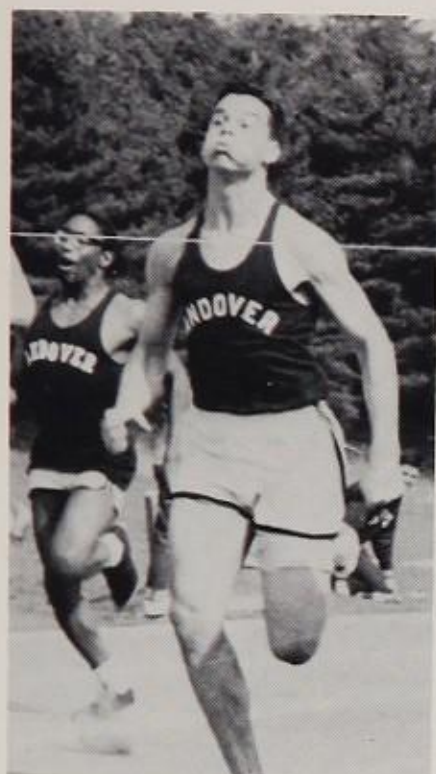

The opening meet of the season, against the Northeastern Freshmen, was one of the few occasions the Blue displayed their full strength. Grabbing several seconds and thirds, they whipped the Frosh, 78-48. John Levin's firsts in the hammer and discus events particularly stood out.

Against the University of Massachusetts, however, Andover found its all-around ability suddenly diluted. Though winning the discus, the javelin, and the 440, P.A. fell, 80-46. After Dartmouth repeated the U. Mass. victory, the Blue participated in a triangular meet, beating out M.I.T. while losing to Columbia. In this three-way match, Jim Mettler won the mile in 4:32.4 and the two mile in 10:10.8. Phil Reed outclassed everyone with a fantastic 12'6" pole vault with a bent pole. Harvard and Brown then took the measure of the Sorotamen.

Since Achievement Tests were absorbing the team's Uppers, prospects for the Interscholastics were dim, but with Dean Lucas heaving a 179' 6" toss in the javelin, Lower Jeff Huvelle running a 51.5 in the 440, and Keith Chiappa tying the N.E.P.S. 880 record, the Blue finished a close second.

The Exeter meet closed the season. Just as the Redmen had won in 1960 and 1961, they were victorious again in 1962. Under the guidance of Amos Alonzo Stagg, the P.E.A. win was surprisingly decisive.

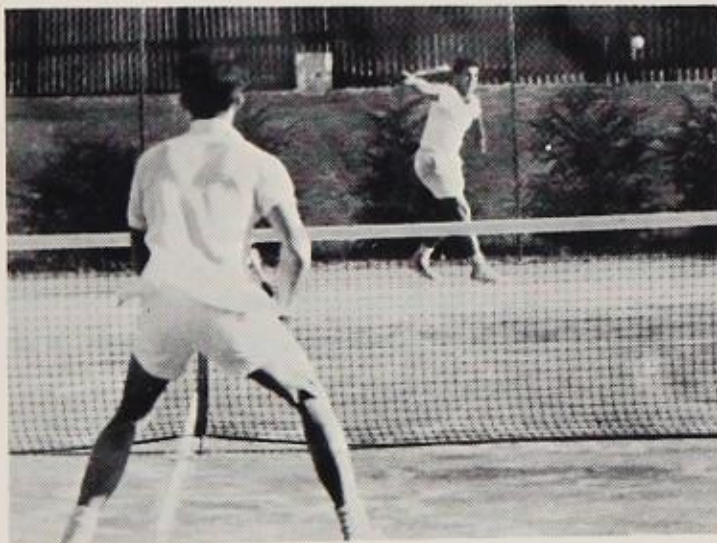

Though the season record of the Andover team was not particularly laudable, outstanding individual performances left something to be remembered.

TENNIS

Standing: Holdorf, Morrison, Gonzales, Devereux, Mr. Mc-Bee (Coach).
Sitting: Westcott, Andrews (Capt.), Gilbert.
Missing: Adams.

Mr. McBee's well organized tennis program was indeed a success as clearly shown by the varsity's record of 7 wins, 1 loss. Captain George Andrews headed the ladder during the entire season with Lower Jose Gonzalez pressing close behind. Dinny Adams and Jackie Morrison switched back and forth in the number three and four spots while Jay Wescott filled five and Tom Gilbert six. Occasionally Junior Steve Devereux substituted for Gilbert.

The Blue swept the first match of the year against M.I.T. Frosh 9-0. The next court face-off was with a powerful Harvard team which handed Andover its only loss of the year. In singles, Tom Gilbert was P.A.'s only winner, but the teams of Andrews-Gonzalez and Wescott-Gilbert won two of the three doubles matches.

Then the winning streak, which went six straight matches to the end of the season, began with the romps over Dartmouth, 7-2, and over Brown, 9-0. Against both, Captain Andrews, having forgotten the defensive game he had used against Harvard, pounced calculatingly on the shots of each opponent. Jose Gonzalez also turned in excellent performances. (It was noted that the Brown coach jotted down his name.)

Next, the P.A. racketmen stroked Deerfield, 7-2, and Milton, 8½-1½. The season finished with 5-4 wins in the Williams and Exeter matches. Against Exeter, Andrews, Adams, and Gilbert won easily; Gonzalez just barely overcame his opponent. The triumph of the Andrews-Gonzalez combination in the doubles secured the victory, the first over Exeter in three years.

GOLF

Back: Brown, Reed, Rogers, Mr. Chivers (Coach).
Front: Weinberger, McKee (Capt.), Mohr.

Well, this year's golf team, coached by Mr. Chivers, kind of did pretty good and wound up the season with the team's best record since 1954.

Yale stormed the Blue 6-1 at Yale, with Captain McKee gaining the team's only victory in the first slot with his best performance of the year.

Victory followed with the team winning the Round-Robin tournament with Exeter and Governor Dummer by four shots, for the first time since 1954. The meet went to the final 54th hole when Jeff Brown hit a great pressure golf shot for the win. The three round tournament was sparked by Brent Mohr's 77 at Andover and both his and McKee's three round total of 250.

Mel Weinberger then fired four straight rounds under 80 to lead the team to three straight victories before the team's loss to Exeter. The MIT match was determined by another Jeff Brown clutch performance, this time on a sudden-death 19th hole. The team's best performance was against St. Mary's, with three boys under 80 and the rest 83 or better. Weinberger's 75 led the team over Dartmouth, and his fine 76 was almost enough at Exeter.

Terry Rogers will captain a group of four returning lettermen to what should be another successful season.
